Foreword

Memories are responsible for a great number of our actions. Our return to this school each year is based upon pleasant memories of the years gone by. The purpose of this book is to portray, impartially, the school life of the past two years, thus making it easier to recall our associations and experiences as we gaze back upon a finished chapter in our lives.

The President's Message

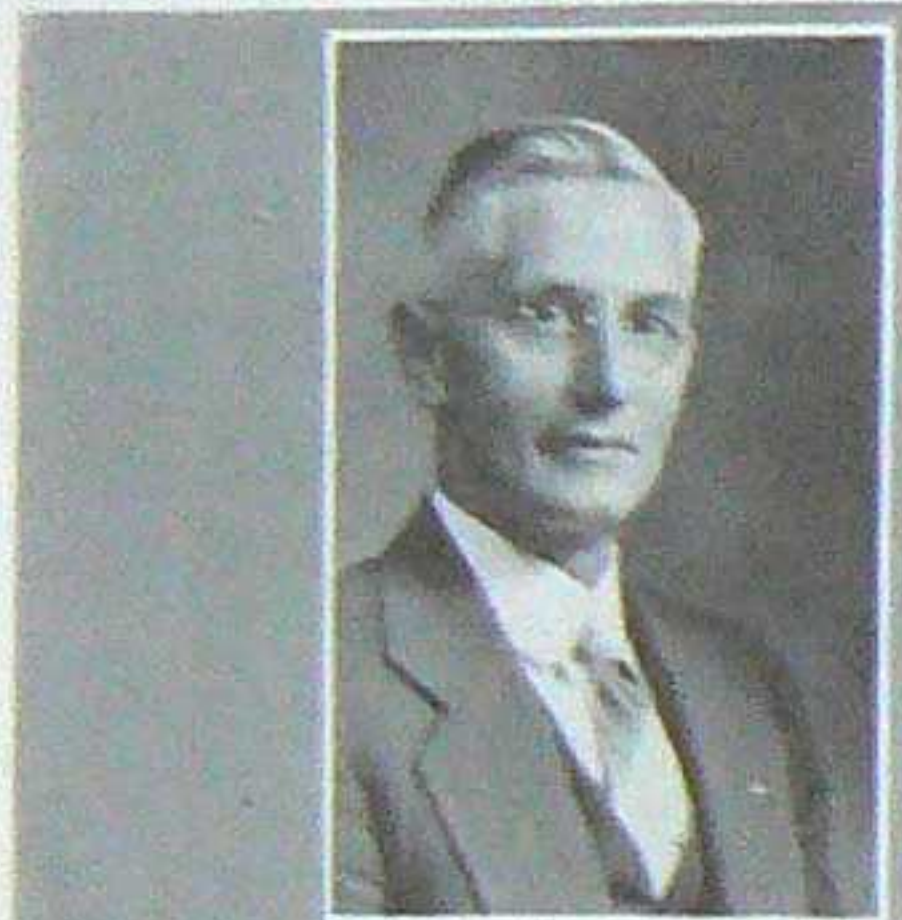

Two years ago, in a message for the Porphyry of 1931, I voiced the opinion that the bottom of the depression probably had been reached but that the recovery promised to be slow and tedious. That opinion regarding the recovery still holds, but certainly the time of reaching the bottom must be revised. In subsequent years the bank crisis of March, 1933, may be recorded as the lowest level, or it may bear even a later date.

In this period of industrial stagnation, unemployment and gloomy aspect, let us hold fast to certain well justified hopes. This depression is no more likely to represent a permanent condition than were the preceding depressions. Although super prosperity similar to that of the late twenties may be many years in the future, industry will again come into its own. Technical knowledge will be more important in future years than ever in the past.

With the return of better times will come increased emphasis on the training and ability of the mining engineer who is employed. I confidently believe that the New Mexico School of Mines will continue to prepare its graduates to compete advantageously with those of other engineering schools.

E. H. WELLS,
President.

Athletics

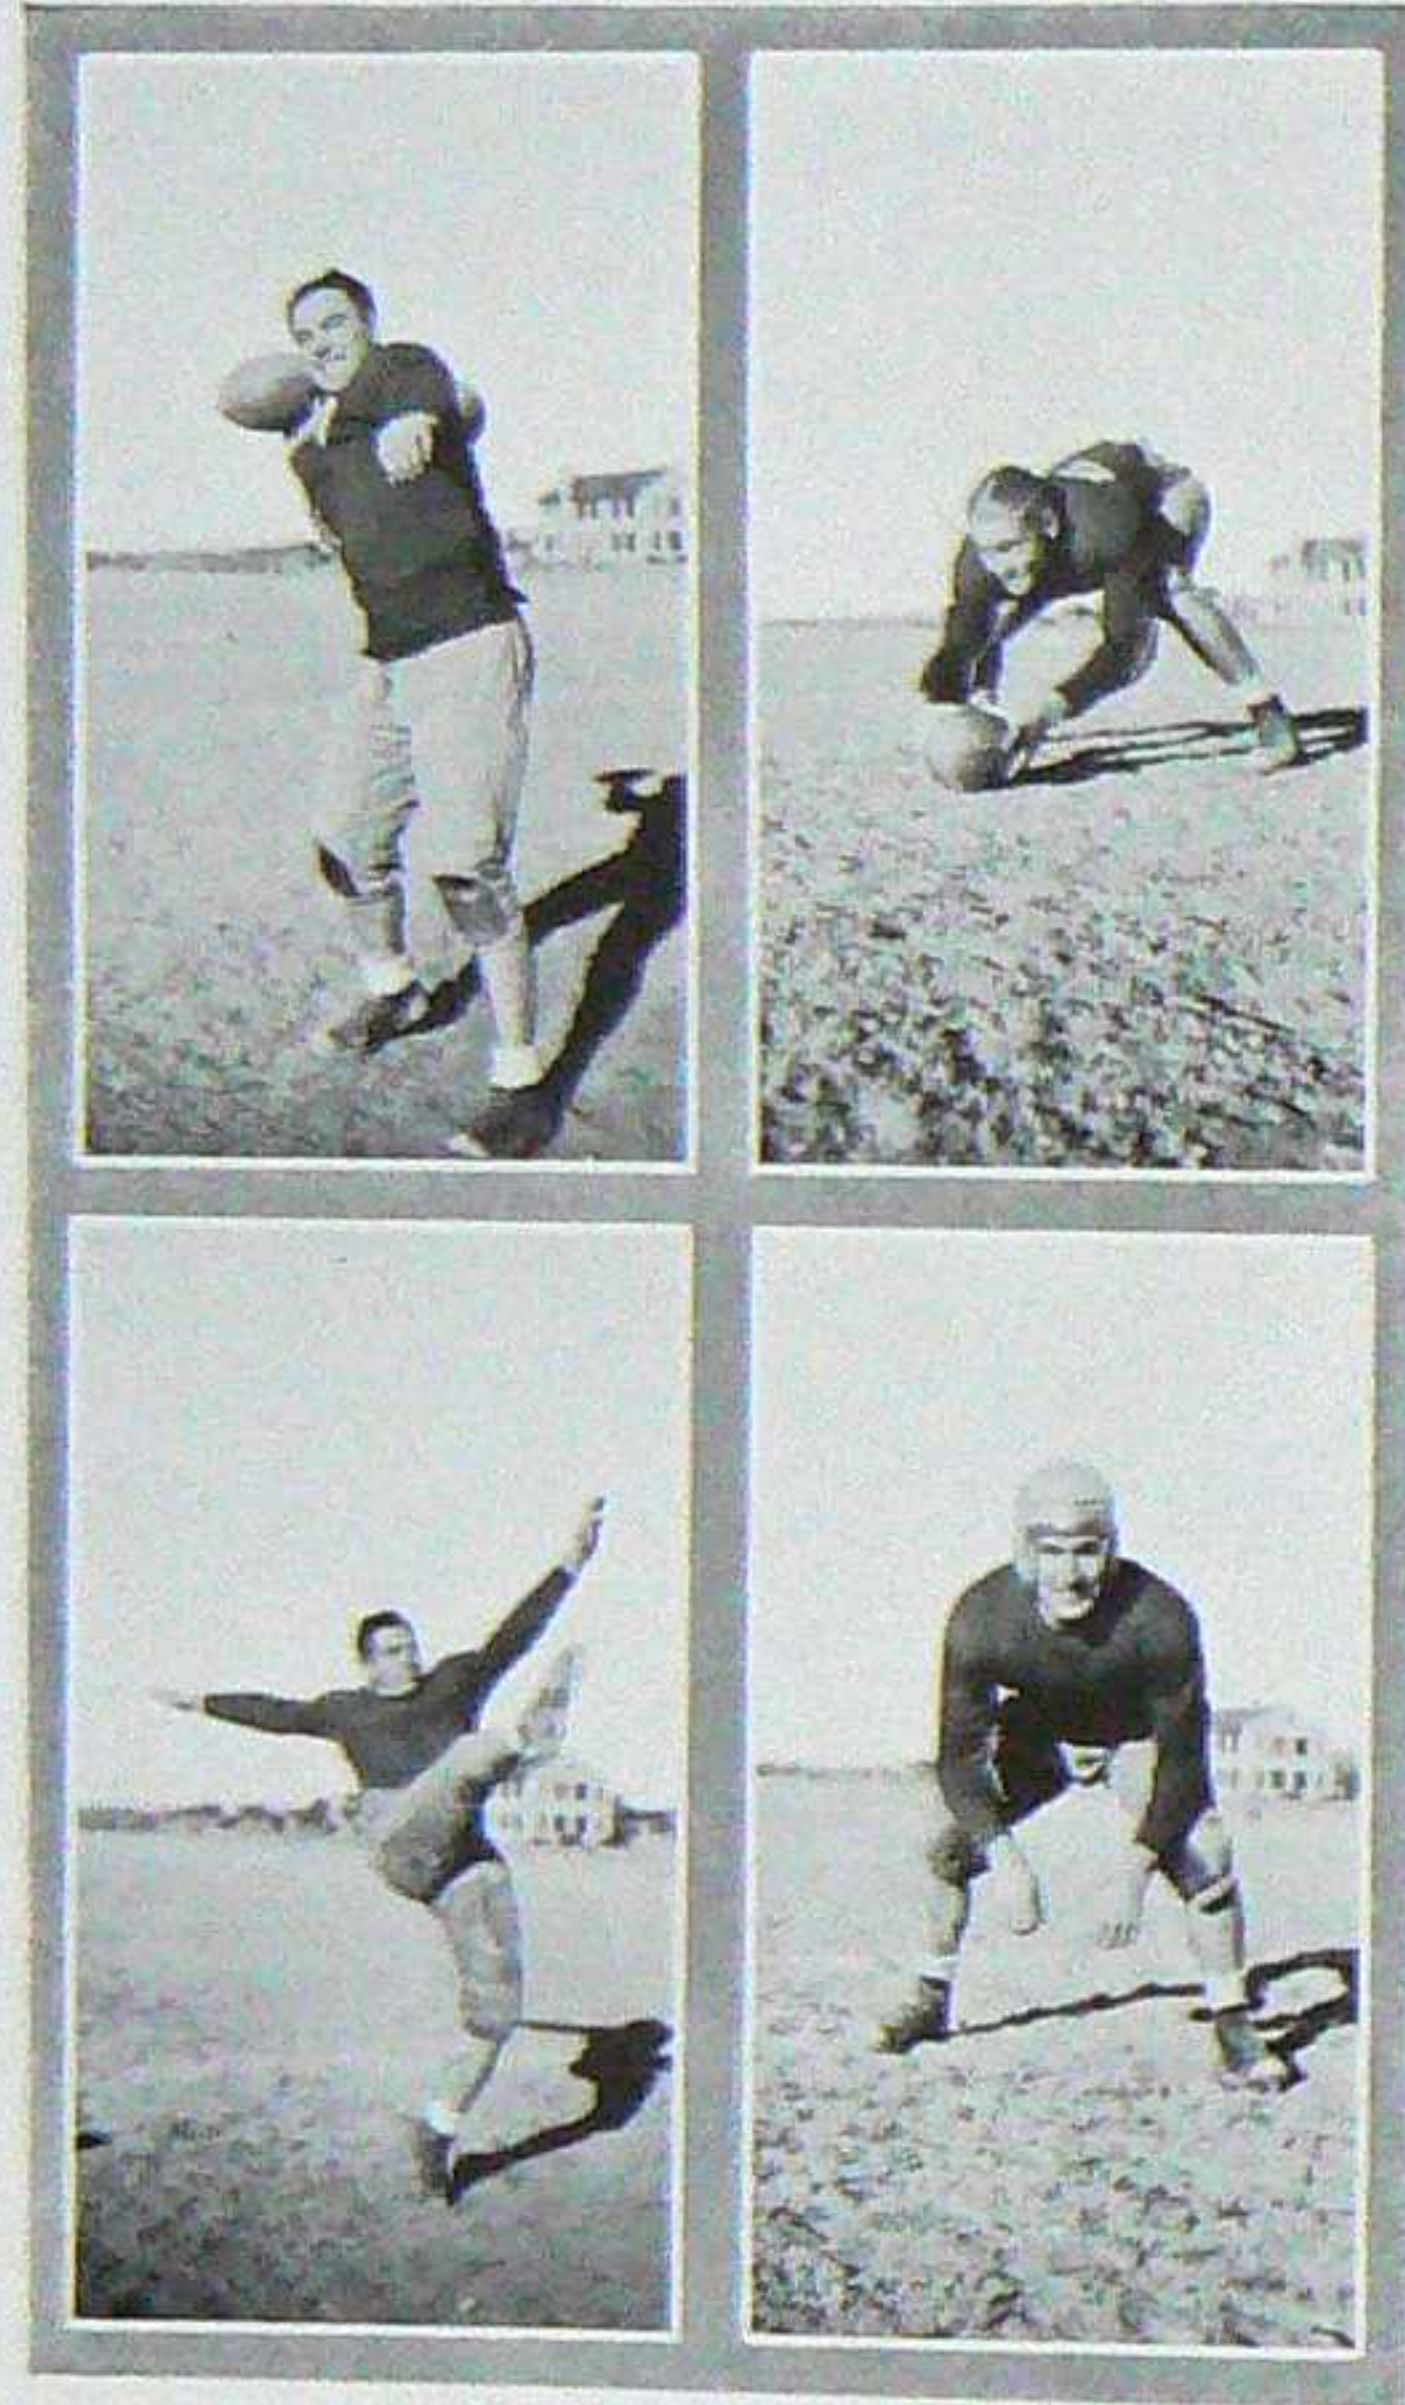

Coach Crain

The Coach has been with us for three years and in that time we have had the privilege of learning the value of clean sports. Coach Crain has had an uphill fight with athletics here and we admire his untiring efforts. Green material and few real athletes make the coaching problem a real battle and Coach Crain is to be complimented on his progress.

The high lights of each year are the trips taken by the athletic teams of the school. The Coach has been a dandy sport on every trip and each one has been a pleasure, due to his thoughtfulness and kindness.

WILLIAM HAGIE, Wilwaukee, Wis.
Captain and Quarterback, 152 lbs.
 (Top-Left)

Red will tell you that being captain of a losing team is quite a job but it's great too, that you can always count on having ten Miners in there with you sharing the beatings in games that seem to last hours without receiving one complaint during the whole season.

ROBERT WATSON, San Diego, Calif.
Co-captain Elect and Center, 158 lbs.
 (Top-Right)

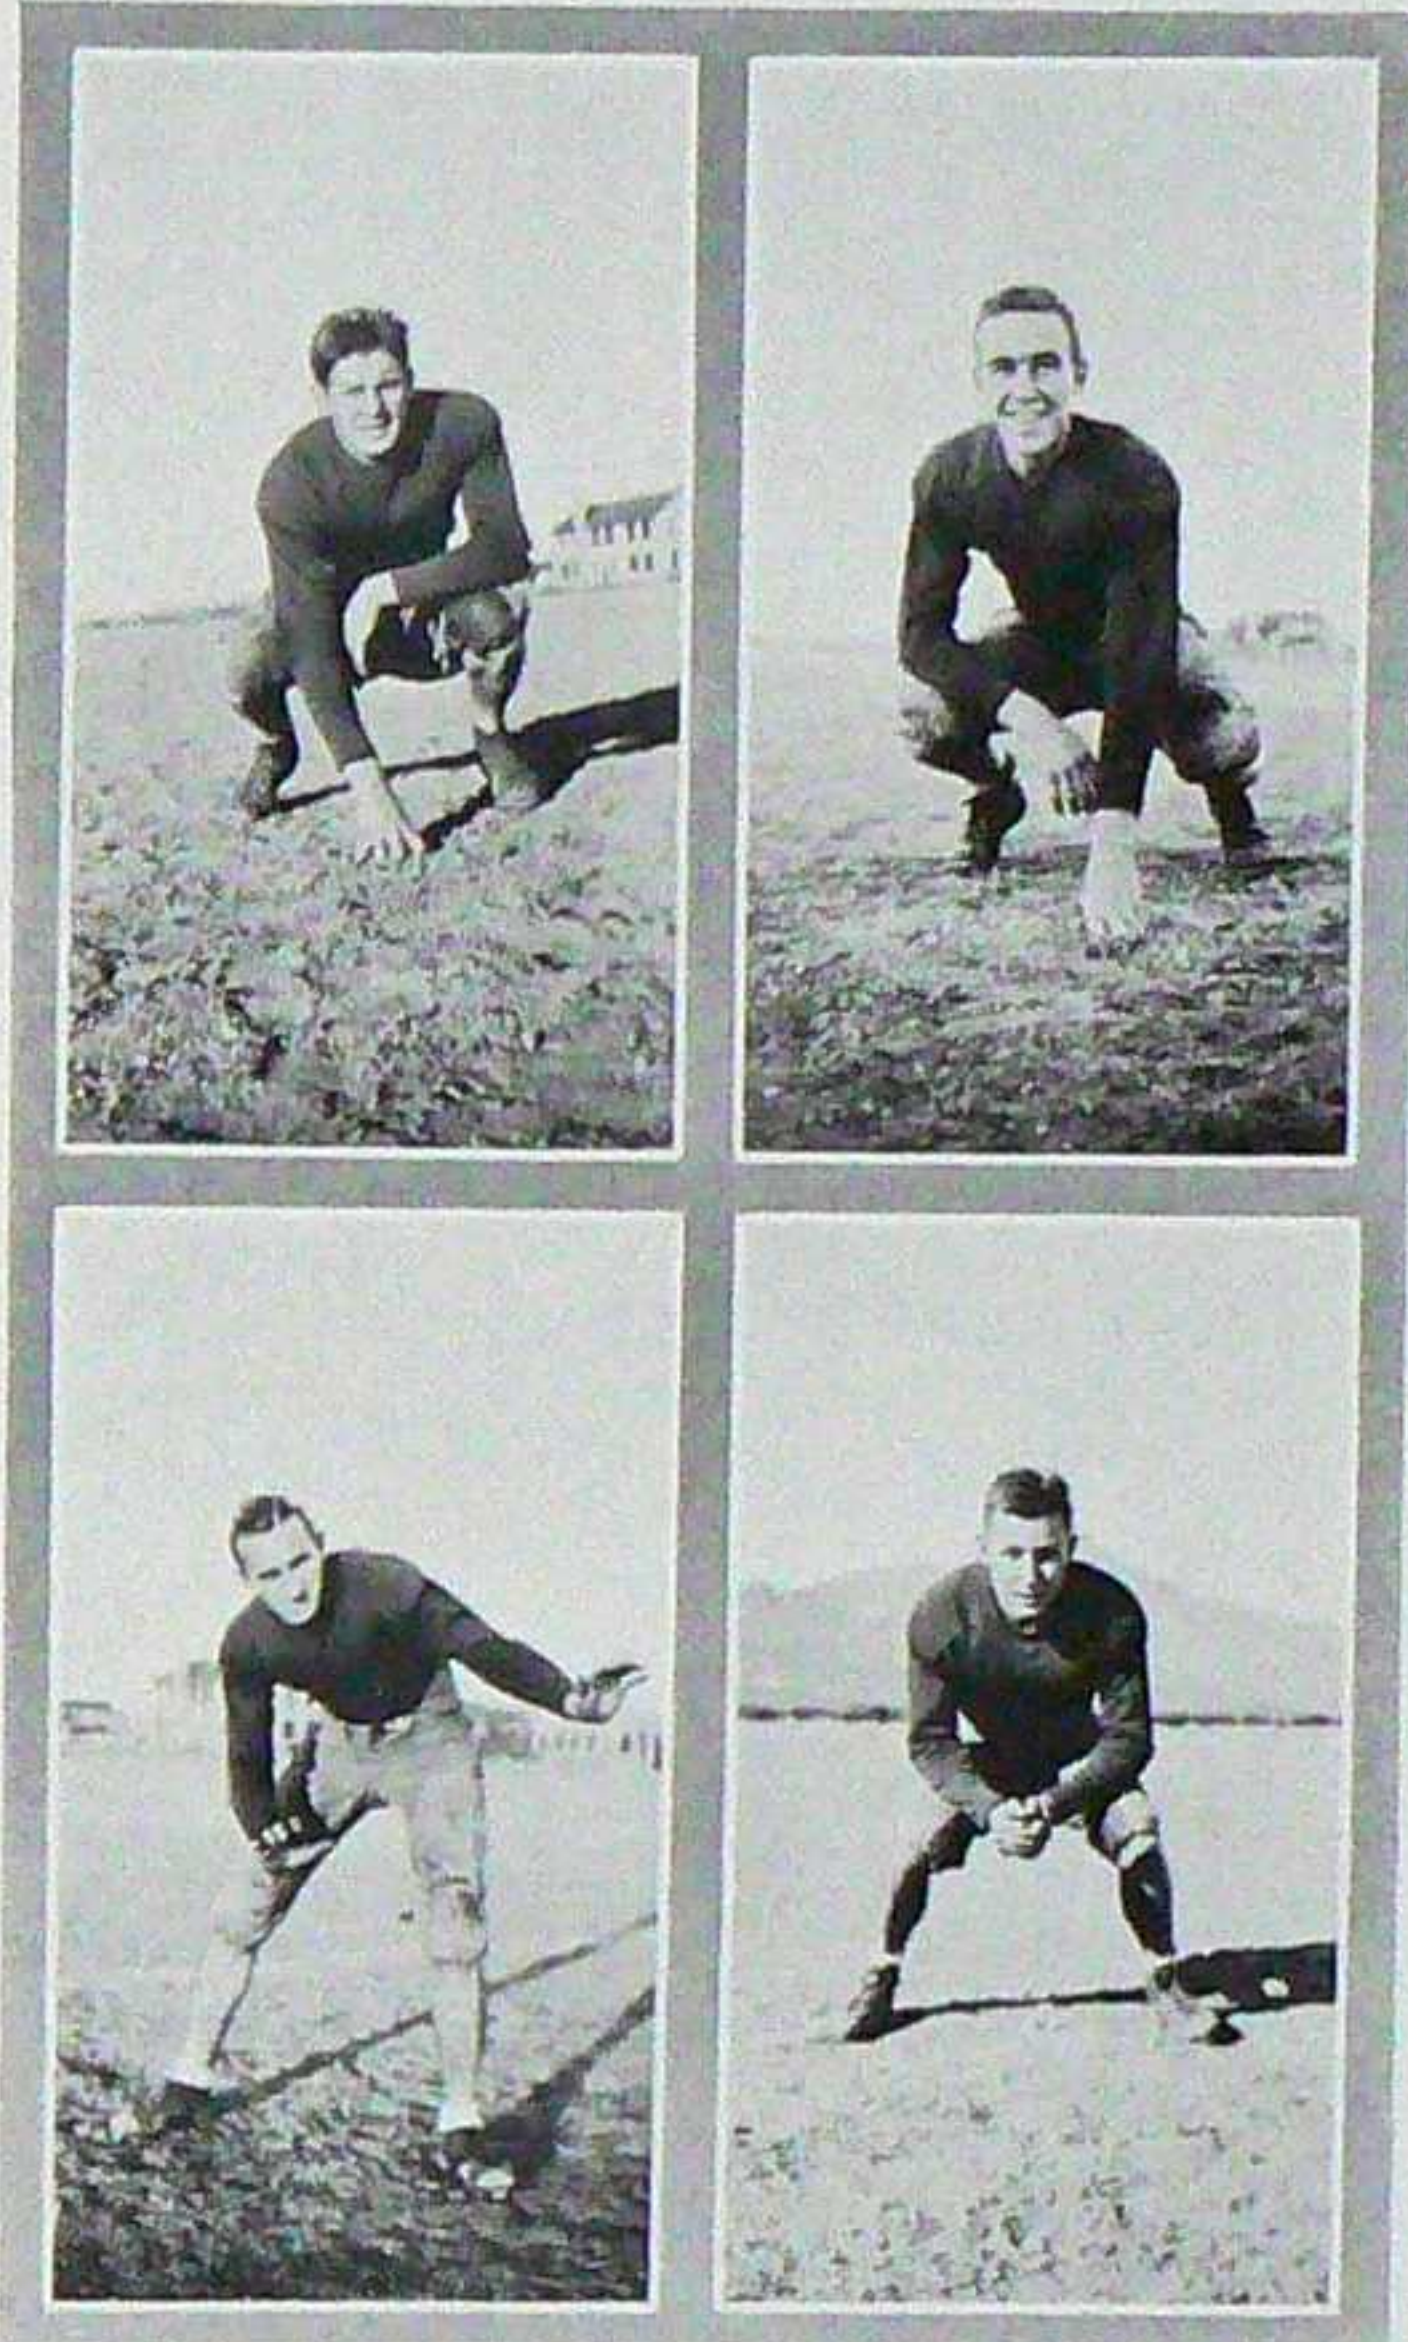

Bob was one of the few experienced boys on the club this year. He played a whale of a game all year and the boys lost no time in electing him to help captain next year's team.

CLARENCE LA LONDE - - - - - Milwaukee, Wisconsin
Co-captain Elect and Fullback (Bottom-Left) 192 lbs.

The type of a player who can make a mediocre team look good. When an injury received in the first half of the first game prevented his playing during the rest of the season, the team couldn't replace the driving power and confidence he had furnished. Better luck for you and your team next year, Benny.

GILBERT GRISWOLD - - - - - Albuquerque, New Mexico
Halfback (Bottom-Right) 150 lbs.

After playing three years as a regular end on the team, Gil was drafted to the backfield. The fastest man on the team and a real ball carrier. When long gains were made by the Miners, Griswold was usually the boy who made them. The backfield will miss him next year.

SAM GARRETT, Boncarbo, Colo.

Tub likes to play football and to play it hard. He is a sophomore with two more years in which to make use of the experience he gained this year.

JAMES BOYLE, New York City

Jim took a course in the school of hard knocks in practical football this year. We know he can take it and we expect that next year he will be teaching the opposition a few tricks of his own.

HENRY MORRIS - - - - - Rockland, Massachusetts
Tackle (Bottom-Left) 181 lbs.

Morris spent three years making the team and those three years were not wasted. He will leave a vacancy in the line that will have to be plugged up next year.

JOHN SALZMAN - - - - - New York City

A light, fast back who didn't care how big the opposition was. He particularly enjoyed the game with the Aggies.

THORNTON BUNCH,
Portsmouth, Virginia
End 168 lbs.
(Top—Left)

He was the type of a punter who apologized when his kicks only traveled 50 yards against the wind. His pass receiving and punting ability will be a big factor in next year's games.

STEVEN LEACH, Ithaca, New York
Guard and Tackle 178 lbs.
(Top—Right)

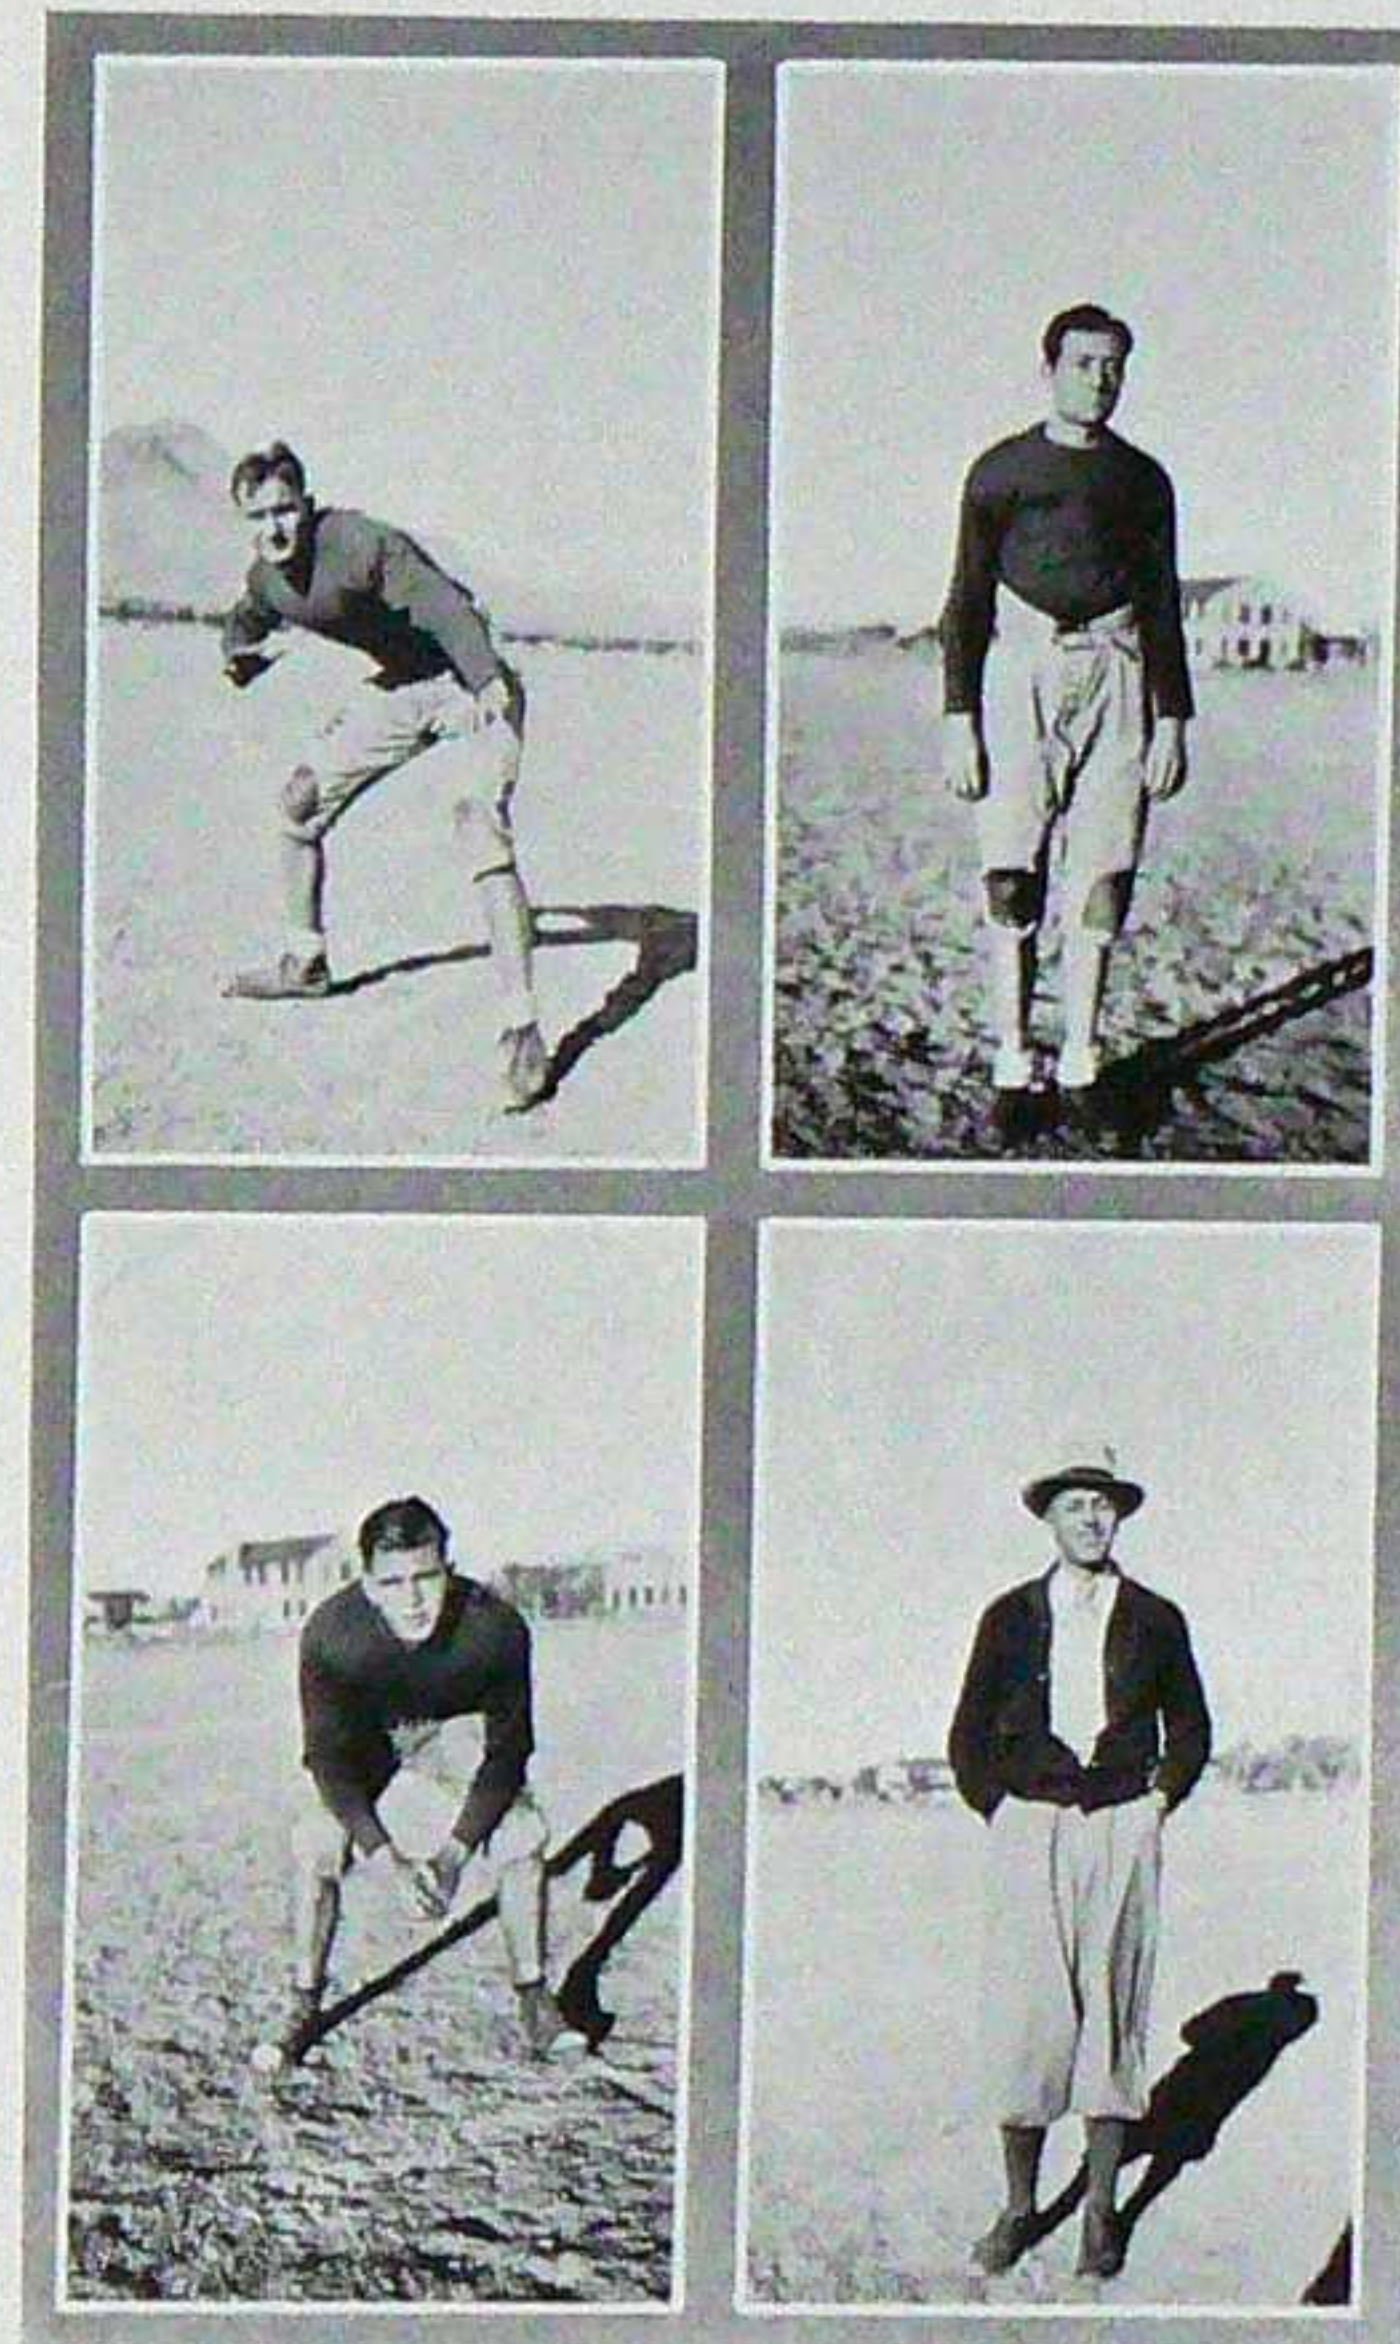

A senior who will be missed next year on the trips and in the games. His specialty was playing the game of give and take and we never heard him complain.

ARTHUR HOLZWORTH - - - - - Schenectady, New York
Guard 177 lbs.
(Bottom—Left)

A tough boy who is taking his football seriously. We expect to see a real exhibition of guard play from Art next year.

CYRIL BODING - - - - - Milwaukee, Wisconsin
Tackle 185 lbs.
(Bottom—Right)

Cy did more than his share of stopping the plays through his side of the line. If we could have a few more linemen like him, we would have a real team.

EDGAR TENNIS, Philadelphia, Pa.
End 158 lbs.

By hard work and hard fighting, Tennis earned a berth as a varsity end. Next year we expect to see Ed playing with a bigger and better Mines team.

ARTHUR ORTEGA,
Albuquerque, N. M.
Halfback 140 lbs.
(Top—Right)

A small, light back, but if size were measured by ability to take punishment with a grin, Art would be called a big man.

ROBERT CASEY - - - - - Gamberco, New Mexico
Fullback 145 lbs.
(Bottom—Left)

Casey had the hardest job on the team. He used his 145 pound body without restraint in backing up the line against overpowering teams.

WILLIAM PATRIGO - - - - - Trenton, New Jersey
Manager
(Bottom—Right)

Pat did a good job of taking care of the boys on the trips, before the games, during the games and in applying iodine and liniment after the games.

The Football Team

Top Row—Leach, Murdock, Griswold, Wiegand, Ortega, Fackler, Hellmann.
 Middle Row—Patrigo, Tennis, McCulloch, Leach, S., Stephenson, Salzman, Hill, Crain.

The Miners started the season with a well balanced first team and a few reserves who had never played football before. The line was better than the average Mines line, and the backfield was built around our fast, heavy, hard hitting fullback, La Londe.

The first game was played in our stadium, better known as the Iodine Bowl, against the New Mexico Normal University. During the first half, the game was played in Normal territory. Under Hagie's brilliant guidance, La Londe couldn't be stopped, Griswold broke away for nice gains and McCulloch was on the receiving end of ten of the thirteen passes thrown to him. However, injuries received by La Londe and McCulloch during that game robbed the Miners of their scoring punch and weakened the defense so much that the Normal had little trouble in pushing over two touchdowns to win the game.

When the boys entered the Institute game the following week, they figured that with the aid of a miracle, they might be able to hold the Brones to a low score. But even a miracle couldn't stop those fast stepping Cadets. In spite of the beating they handed us, the boys enjoyed playing against a team of clean sports such as the Institute always puts on the field.

The Aggies were big and we didn't admire their underhand tactics and we just couldn't produce the manpower to stop them.

In the fourth game, the Miners found that without La Londe and McCulloch, they were just twenty-six points weaker than the Normal.

The game with the Panhandle Aggies closed the college careers of Hagie, Griswold, Morris, and Leach, and proved to be a tough ending of a tough season for the rest of the team. We are sure that the experience the players obtained this year will be an incentive towards building up a real team next year.

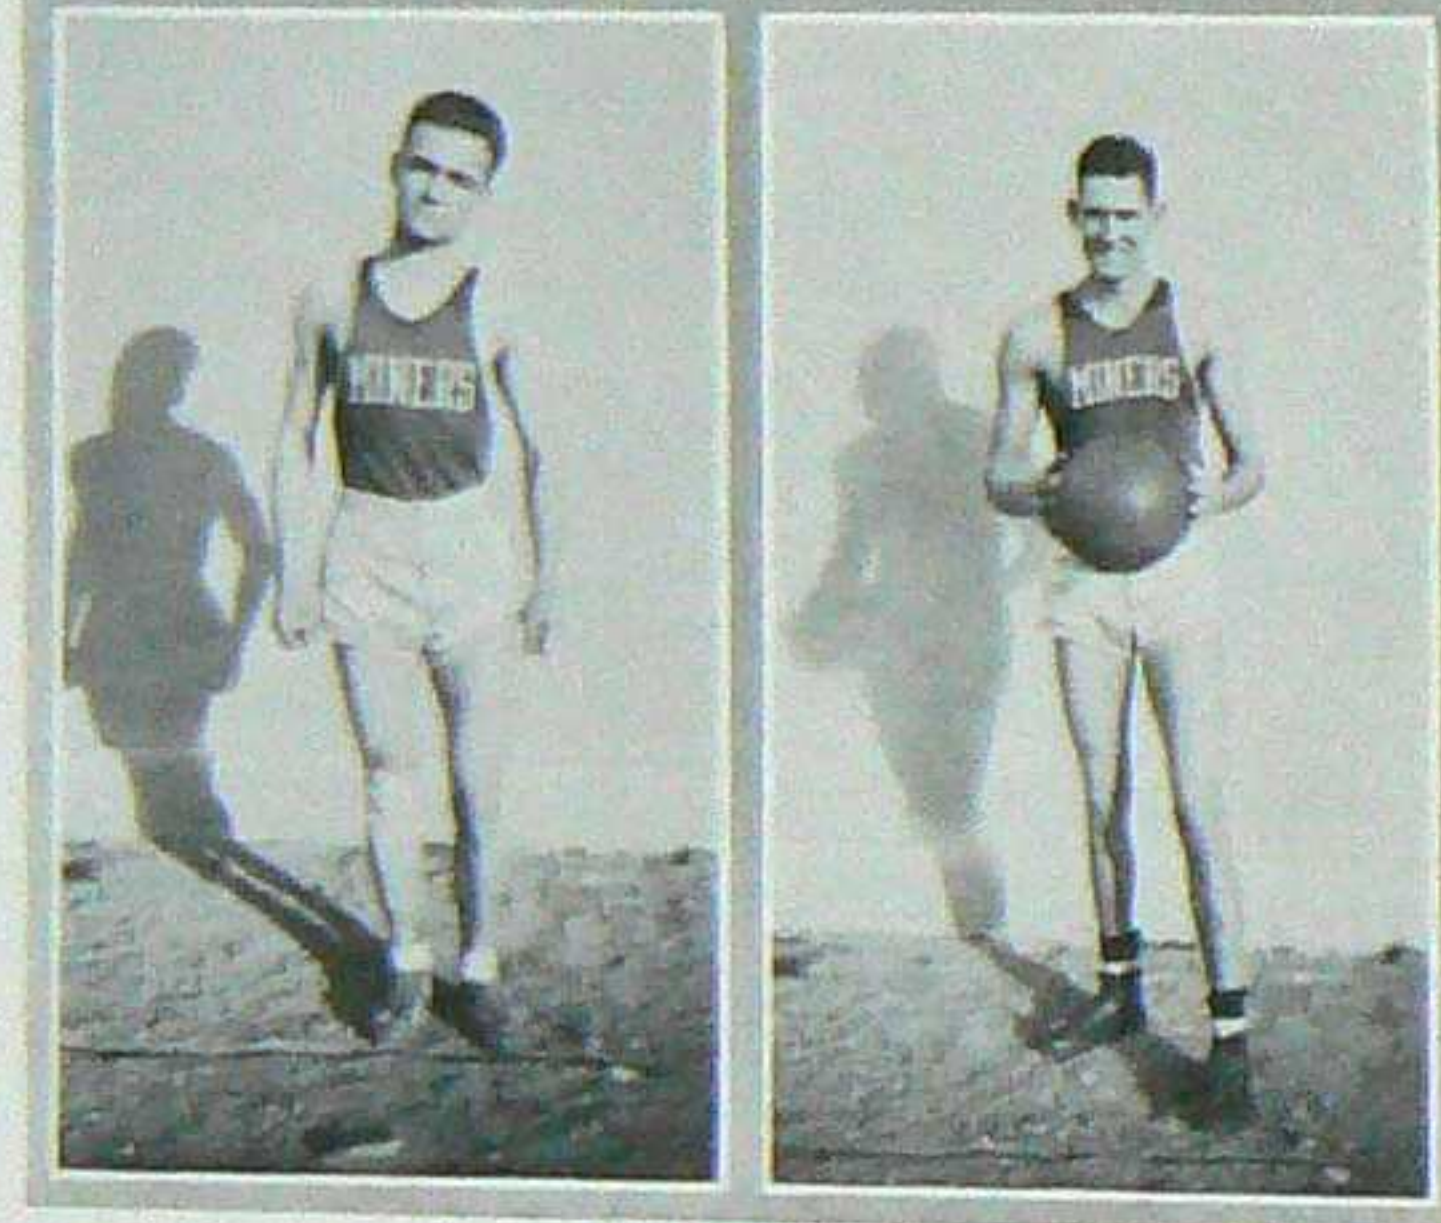

Basketball

GILBERT GRISWOLD
Forward and Captain
(Top—Left)

The loss of Gil's leadership, due to an injury early in the season, crippled the team no end. For four years Gil has been a "heady" player and his position will be hard to fill.

CY BODING - - - Guard
(Top—Right)

Cy was the stone wall our opponents felt. His dependability braced the team throughout the season. Cy's sportsmanship and coolness demand admiration from all.

GLENN BROWN - - - - - Forward
(Bottom—Left)

Brownie developed into one of the smoothest floor players in the state this year. Speed and coordination, combined with an uncanny eye for the basket pulled us out of many a tight spot.

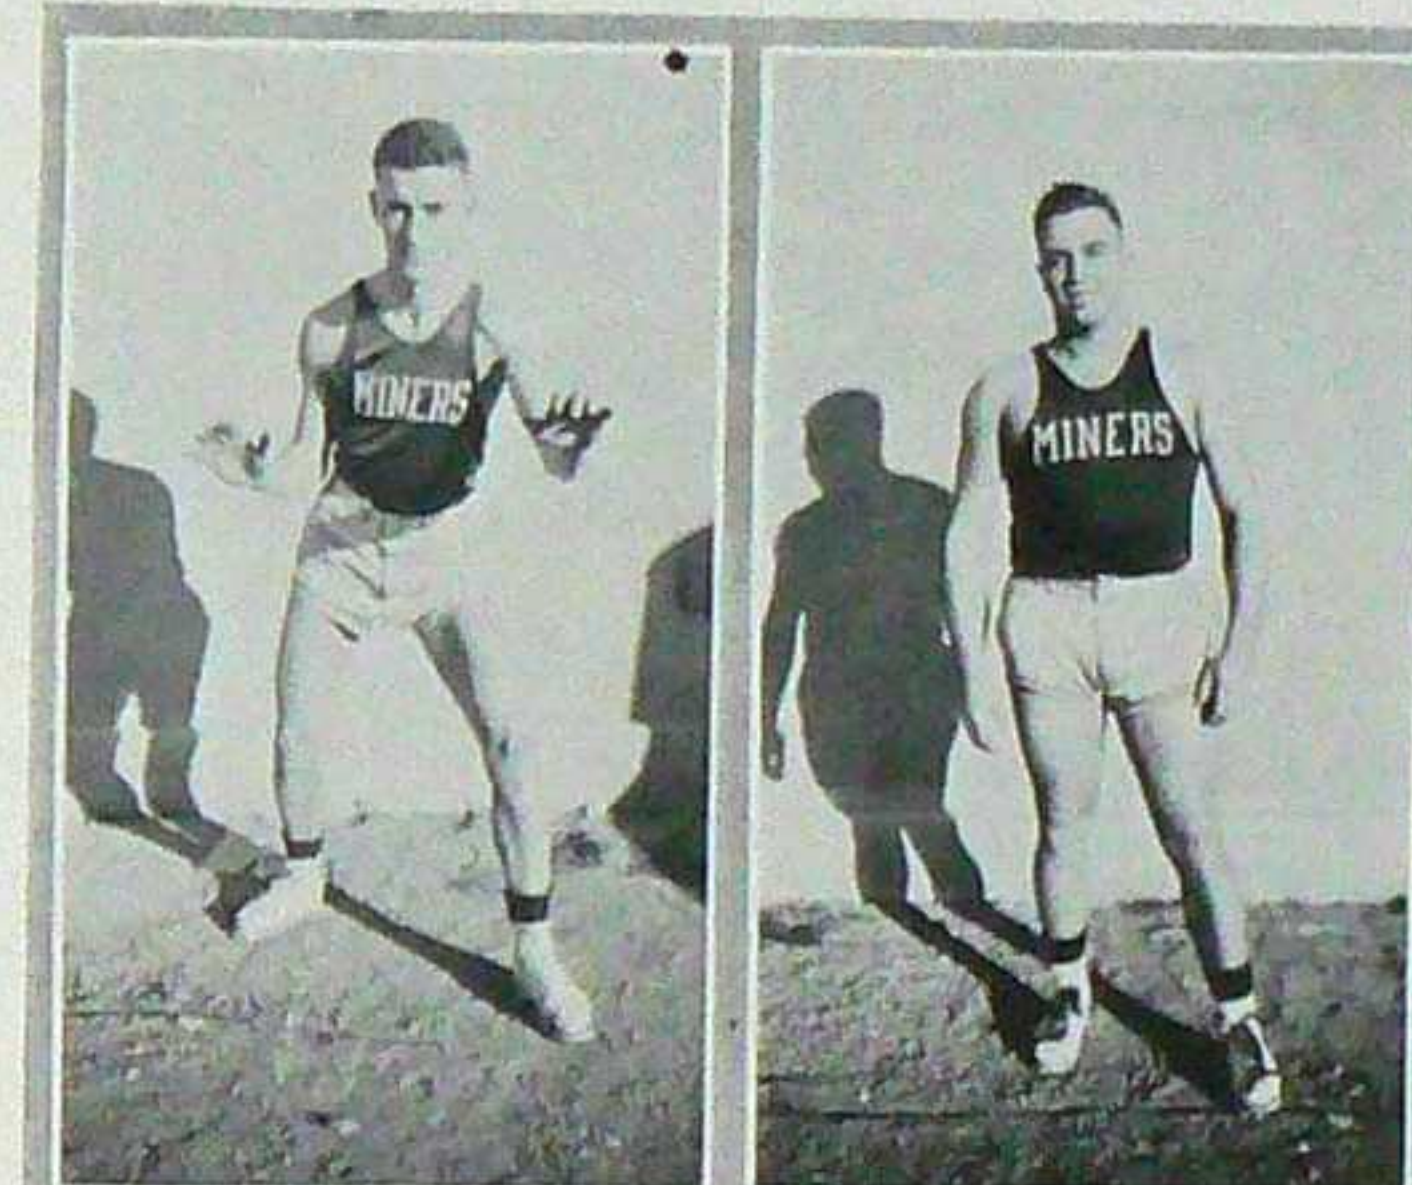

SLIM BUNCH - - - - - Center and Captain Elect
(Bottom—Right)

The team looks forward to an aggressive season under Slim's leadership. He was high point man this year and bids fair to repeat. Slim never knows when he is licked, which ought to spell success for the team next year.

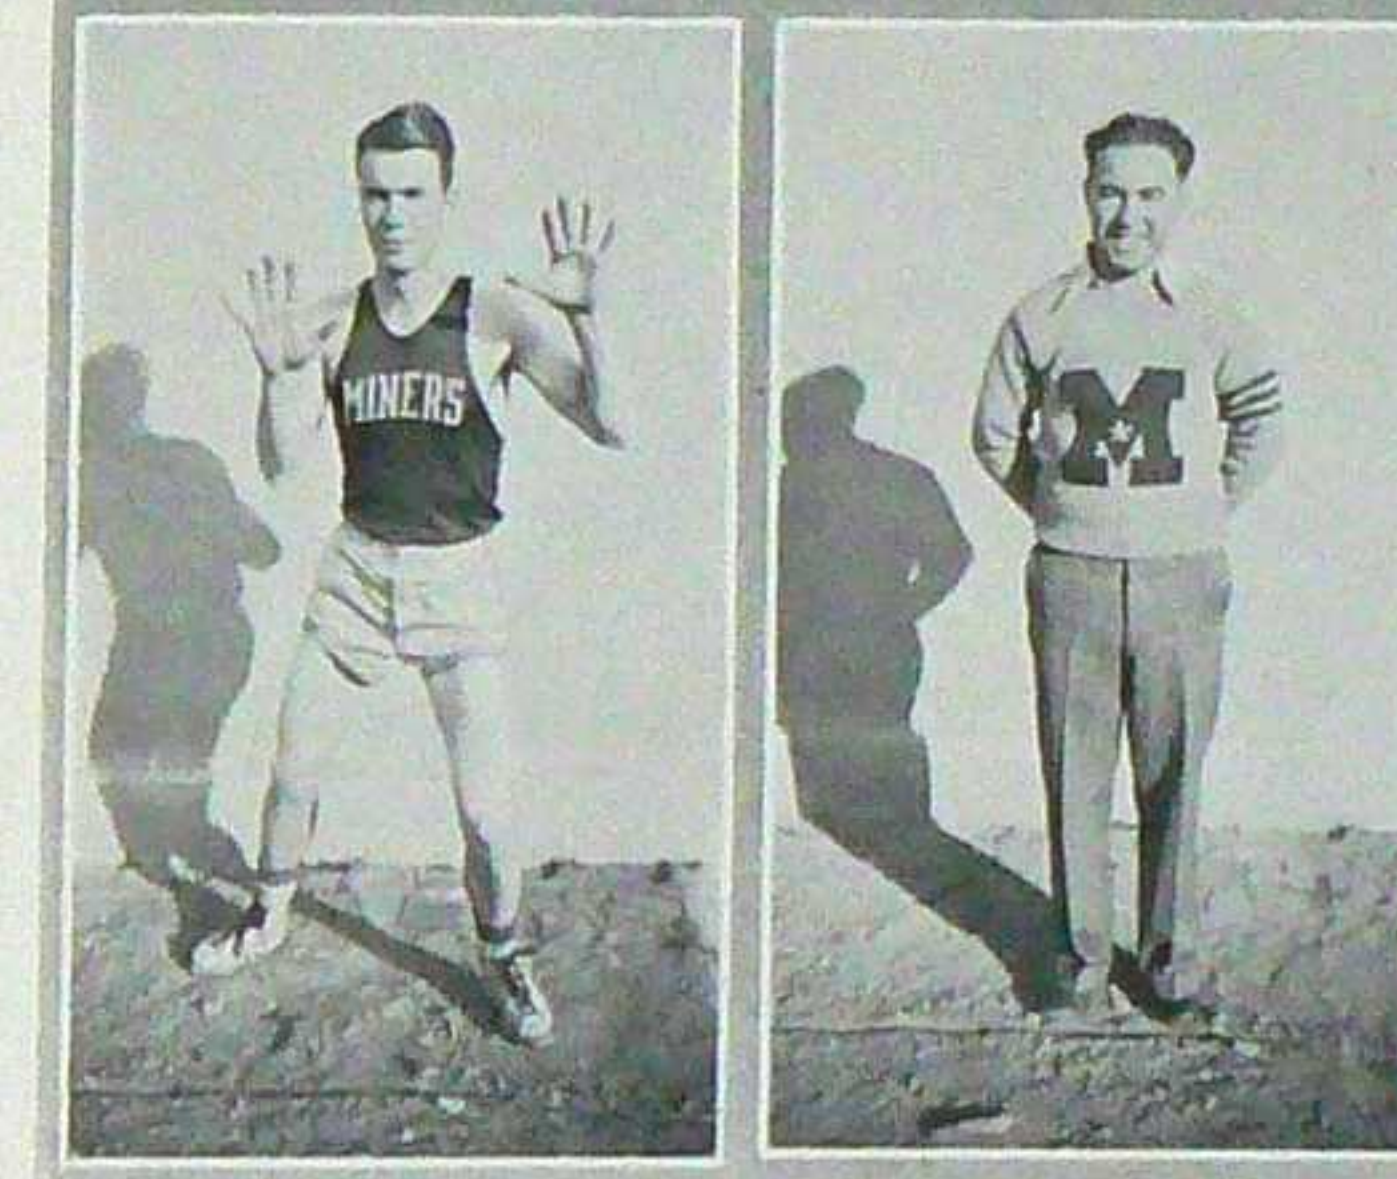

MEYER DUBROW - Guard
(Top—Left)

Dubie has three years before him and with the start he has made, the coach will look to him for some real basketball in the future.

BENNY LA LONDE - Guard
(Top—Right)

Benny proved that a guard is a vital factor in every offensive play. He was a hard man to get around and always gave a good account of himself.

ANDY WIEGAND - - - - - Forward
(Bottom—Left)

Andy believed in team play and this saved the game with the Institute. Much can be expected from him next year. Andy thrives on fast competition and the Normal had better keep an eye on this boy next year.

RED HAGIE - - - - - Manager
(Bottom—Right)

This little Irishman's fighting spirit and cooperation was an incentive to the whole team. We still think that Red should have been a player instead of a manager after seeing him sink several without looking at the basket.

Basketball Review

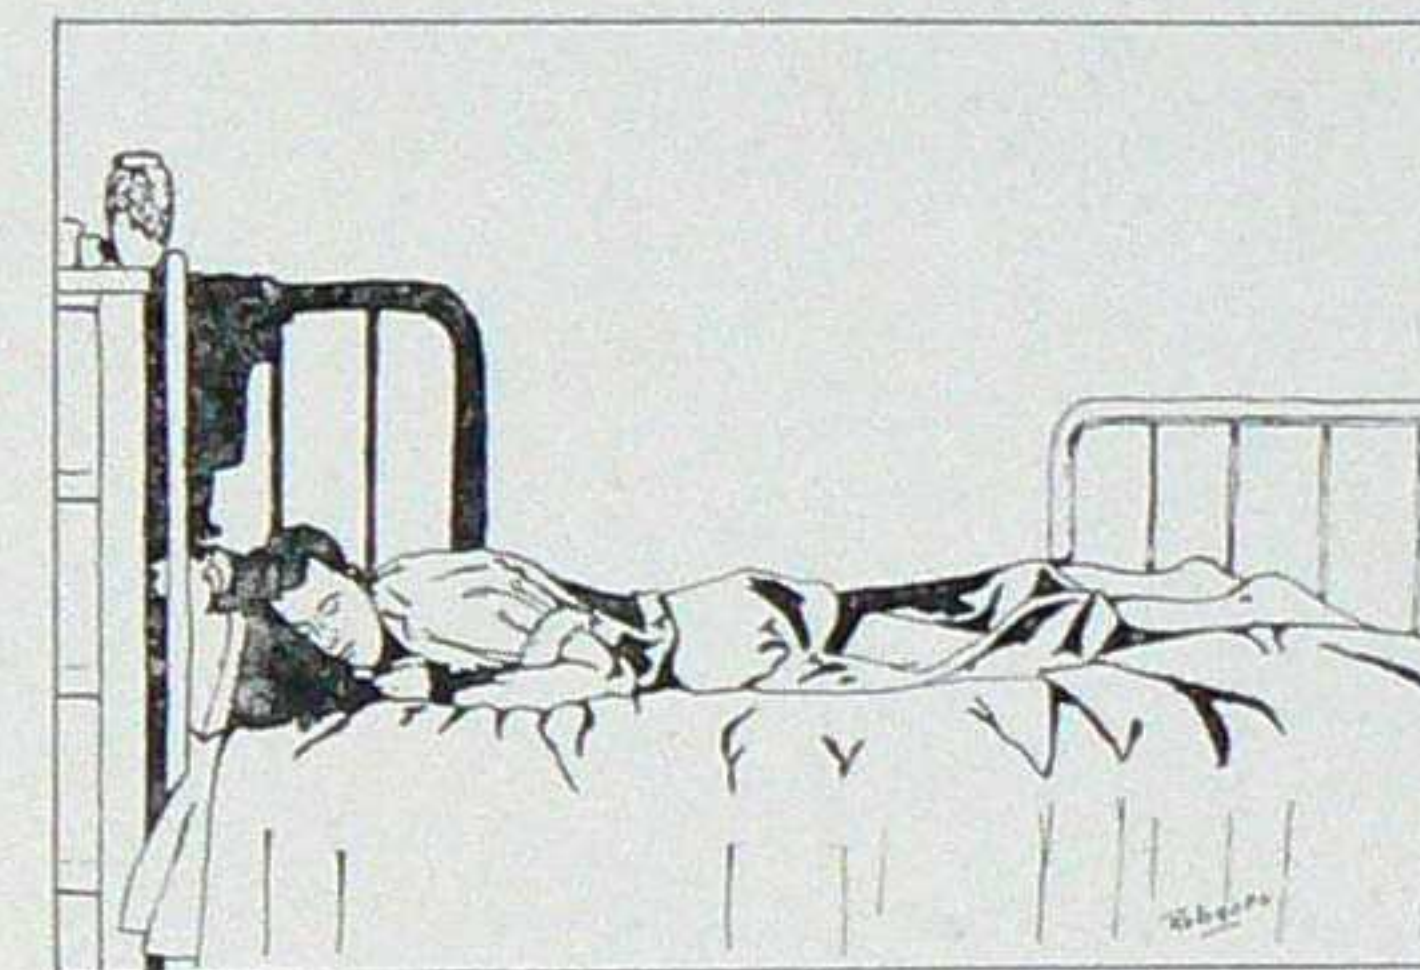

Top Row—Crain, La Londe, Carter, Myers, Wiegand, Leach, Hagie.

Basketball season started in earnest the day after the Christmas holidays were over. About 15 men turned out and the building of a team was in order. Coach Crain worked on the squad until a smooth working combination was secured.

The first games were at hand and the Miners started out to clean things up. The San Marcial Hornets were the first victims. In this game the new men were used freely and several promising players were uncovered. The Socorro Town Team was next on the program and the Muckers added another scalp to their belts. The Belen Merchants proved too much for our boys and in the exchange of games the Merchants won the series by one and two point leads.

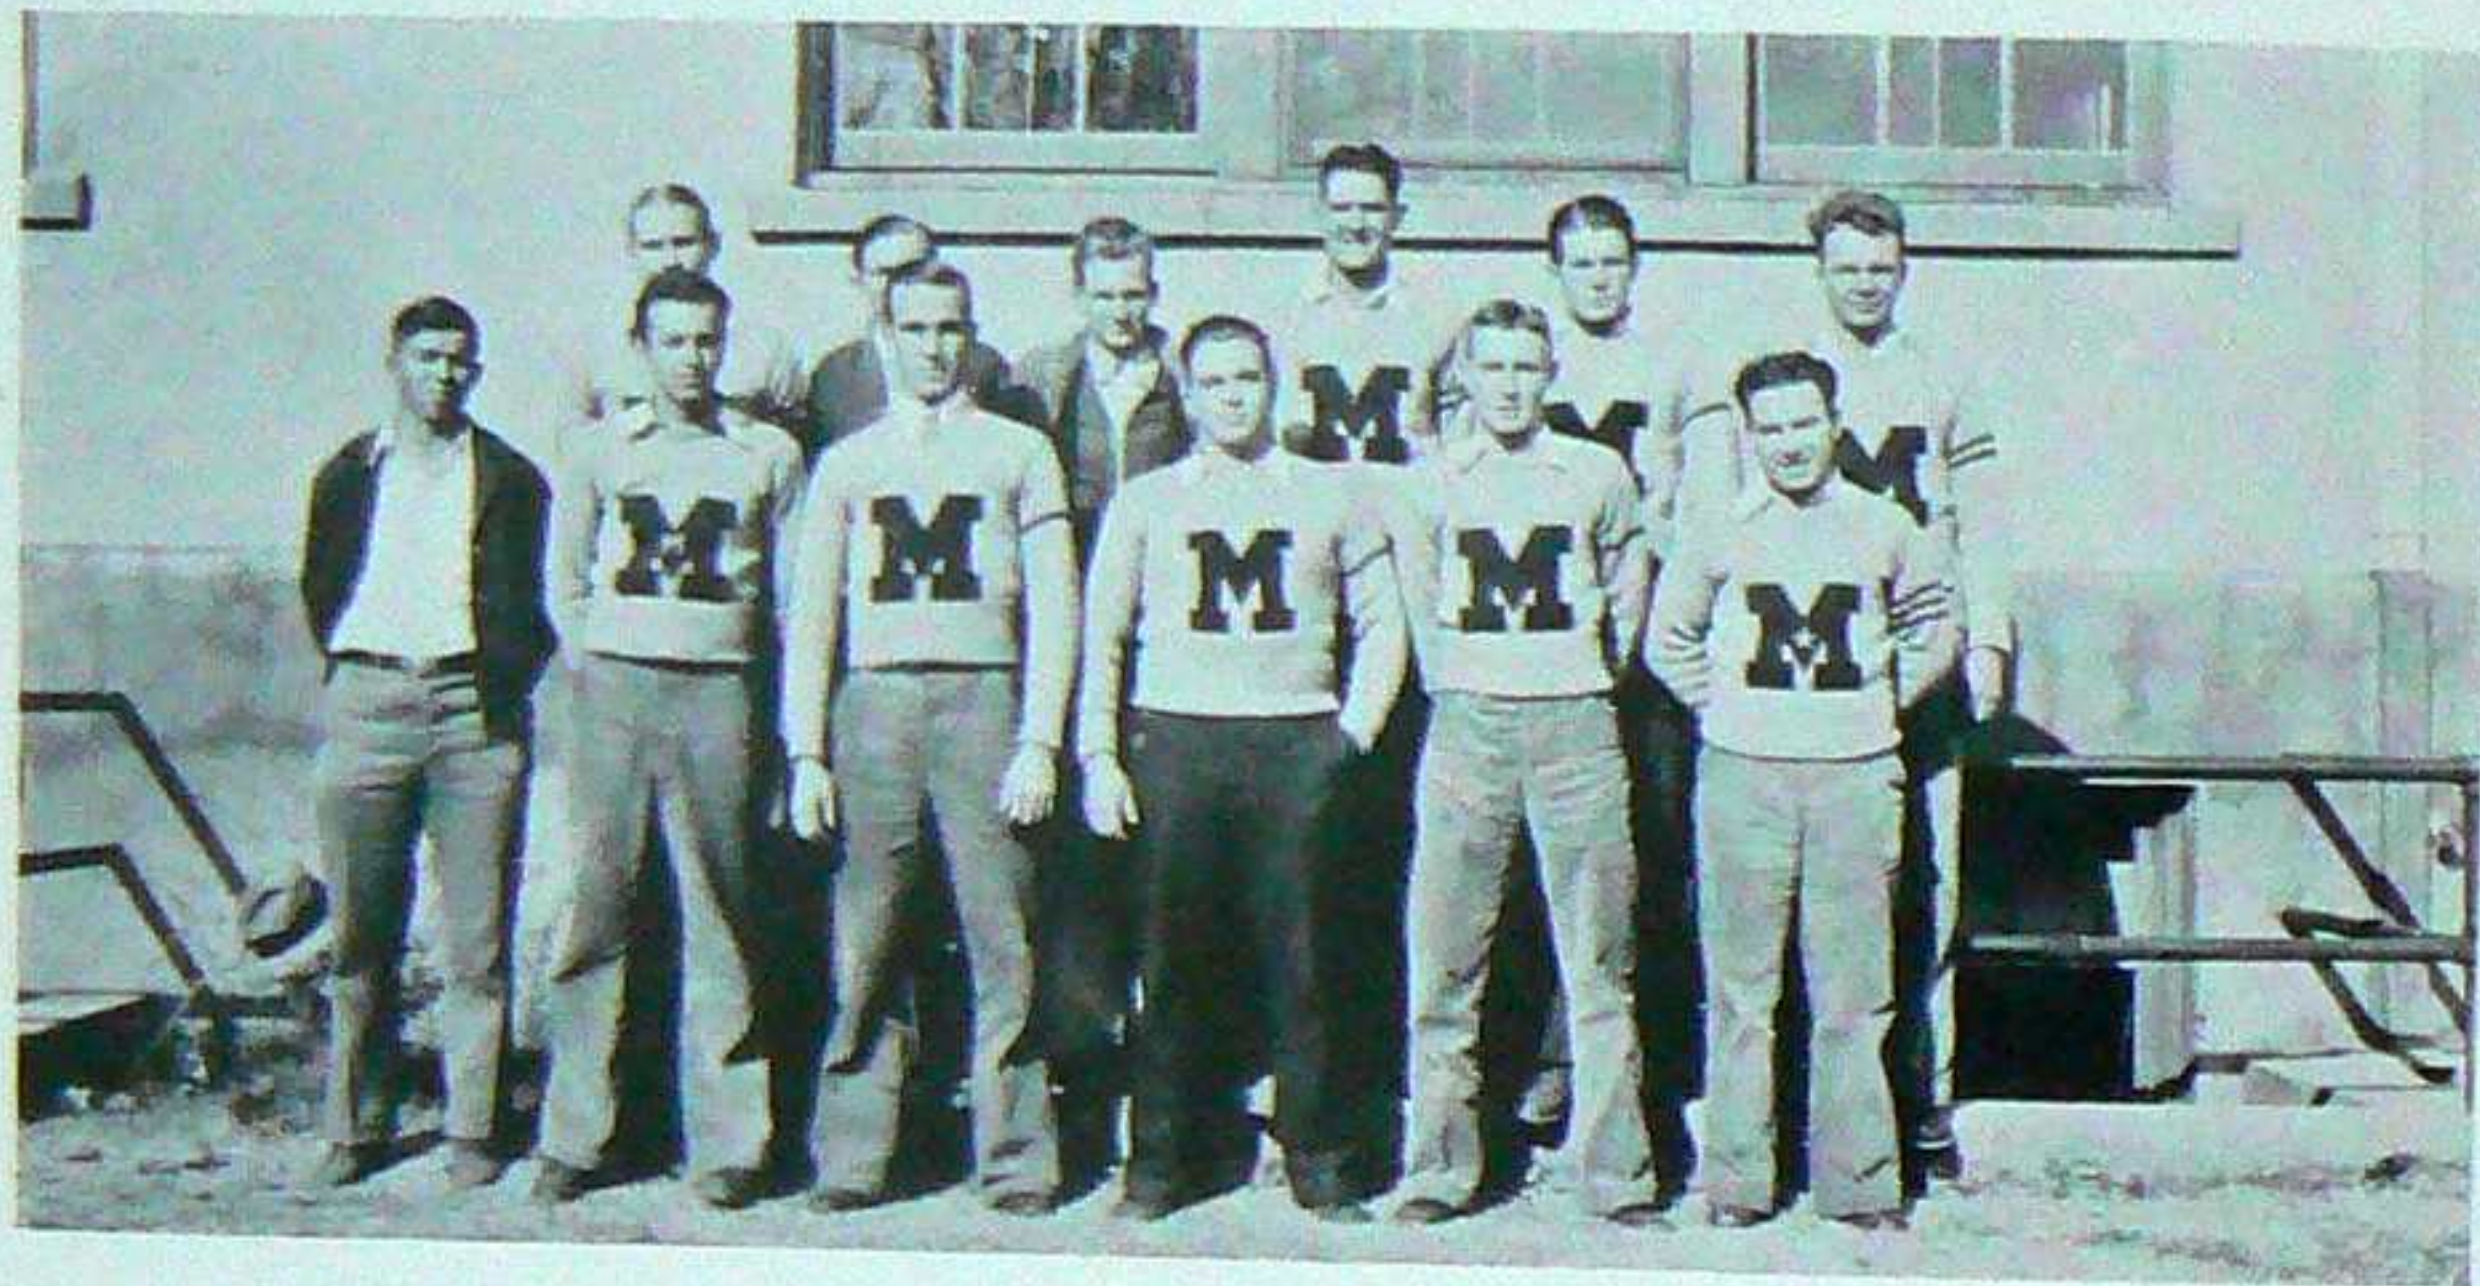

The warm up games were finished and the Miners were ready for collegiate competition. A two game series with the Aggies ended with the Muckers on the small end of the score. The Institute now invaded our territory and in the first game their fast passing and accurate shooting earned them a well deserved victory; however on the second night the tables were reversed and the fighting Miners bewildered the Broncs with a flashy comeback and furnished fans with a thrill which will long be remembered as the Cadets went down in defeat. On the following week end the Silver City Mustangs conquered the Miners and repeated their victory one week later on the local court. The Las Vegas Normal was the last opponent on the schedule. After a hard day's trip, the Miners gave little opposition to the Cowboys in the first game, but on the second night the Normal had their hands full and the game, although won by the Cowboys, was a successful climax to the basketball season of 1933.

The Baseball Team

Top Row—Watson, Leshner, Garrett, Bunch, S. Garrett, Boding.
Bottom Row—Denny, Patrigo, Boyle, La Londe, Salzman, Hagie.

At the time this article is being written, the Mines baseball team is training hard for the coming season. We hope to uphold our record of last year's season, seven victories, one tie and no defeats.

Every year the Miners try to make a major sport of baseball but each year no competition can be obtained from the universities and colleges of this state. Last year our schedule included the teams from the neighboring towns and cities, but this year we have included the State Penitentiary at Santa Fe, and the American Metals Mine team at Tererro.

Last year's team remains intact with the exception of a vacancy in the outfield and one in the infield. Evan Murdock, a freshman, appears to have won the right to fill the outfield position, and Fern Kettel, another freshman, looks good at third base. A shoulder injury received during the last football season will keep Thornton Bunch from taking his regular turn on the mound this year. Unless we find some new man who can replace him, Carl Leshner will have to play the part of an "iron man" in the pitcher's box throughout the coming season. Carl is a good heady pitcher and capable of keeping the team out of trouble, so we aren't worrying.

The Student Council needs little introduction. Its purpose is to control all student activities, thus making each representative responsible to his class. The members of the Council consist of the Student Body President, who automatically becomes the Council President; the Vice-President and the Secretary and Treasurer of the student body holding similar offices on the Council; the Senior Class is represented with four members, including the Student Body President; the Juniors supply three members; the Sophomores supply two and the Freshmen one member.

The Student Council has been very active this year and under the able guidance of the President has made the school year the best since the school was founded in 1889. Several major issues were decided this year, and the Student Council is to be commended upon its quick action and fair judgment.

The Cooney Mining Club includes all students of the institution in its membership. It is an organization that has for its object the presentation of technical and semi-technical information that is not obtained in the normal routine of the school. It endeavors to bring the students into a closer relationship with the mining and allied industries. Under the club's auspices, addresses are given to the students by men prominent in the fields of engineering. At various times throughout the year, motion pictures are shown which deal with the science of mining and related subjects.

The Cooney Mining Club is an affiliated student chapter of the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers. The members of the club are eligible to join this nationally known organization under very favorable terms.

The "M" Club

President - - - - Robert Watson

The "M" Club is composed of men awarded the Varsity "M" for their performance in any of the intercollegiate athletics such as football, basketball, track and tennis.

This year the "M" Club, in cooperation with the Entertainment Committee, put on a "Smoker." The Smoker was one of the most enjoyable affairs of the school year. The entertainment consisted of several thrilling boxing matches and some real "big time" wrestling bouts. After the athletic events, "M" sweaters were awarded for the past football season and the evening was concluded with delicious refreshments.

Membership in this club should be a coveted honor, so let's get together and have a real active club in the future. Ten new members were admitted this year and the burden of recreating interest in the "M" Club will rest on their shoulders. We sincerely hope that they are equal to the task.

The Porphyry Rifle Club

Bottom Row—Milburn, Van Sant, Rodenberg, Miller, Trajectory.

For the first time since its organization, the Porphyry Rifle Club really functioned. The club held its first meeting in September and elected as officers the following: John D. Milburn, president; J. N. Van Sant, vice-president; William F. Busch, secretary-treasurer.

The newly elected officers immediately started constructing an outdoor range in a vacant lot adjoining the campus. The range, when finished, consisted of a fifty yard fairway, with a shooting platform at one end and at the opposite end, a series of wires supported by iron rods served as a target rack. A novel target marker was conceived and made by the members of the Rifle Club; a square sheet of glass was etched so that it had the target markings clearly marked on it. This device made an easy job of grading targets and proved very practical.

Rifle matches with small bore rifles were held weekly when weather permitted and some crack rifle shots were developed. Quite an interest in reloading of shells was created and next year many squirrels will probably stop some assay buttons which went wrong and were melted and cast into bullets. Several pistol matches were held this spring, and excitement ran high when members would buy new firearms to enter in the competitive matches.

The Athletic Association

President	- - - -	Geo. T. Anderson
Vice-President	- - - -	John D. Riley
Secretary-Treasurer	- - - -	Joel Suchman

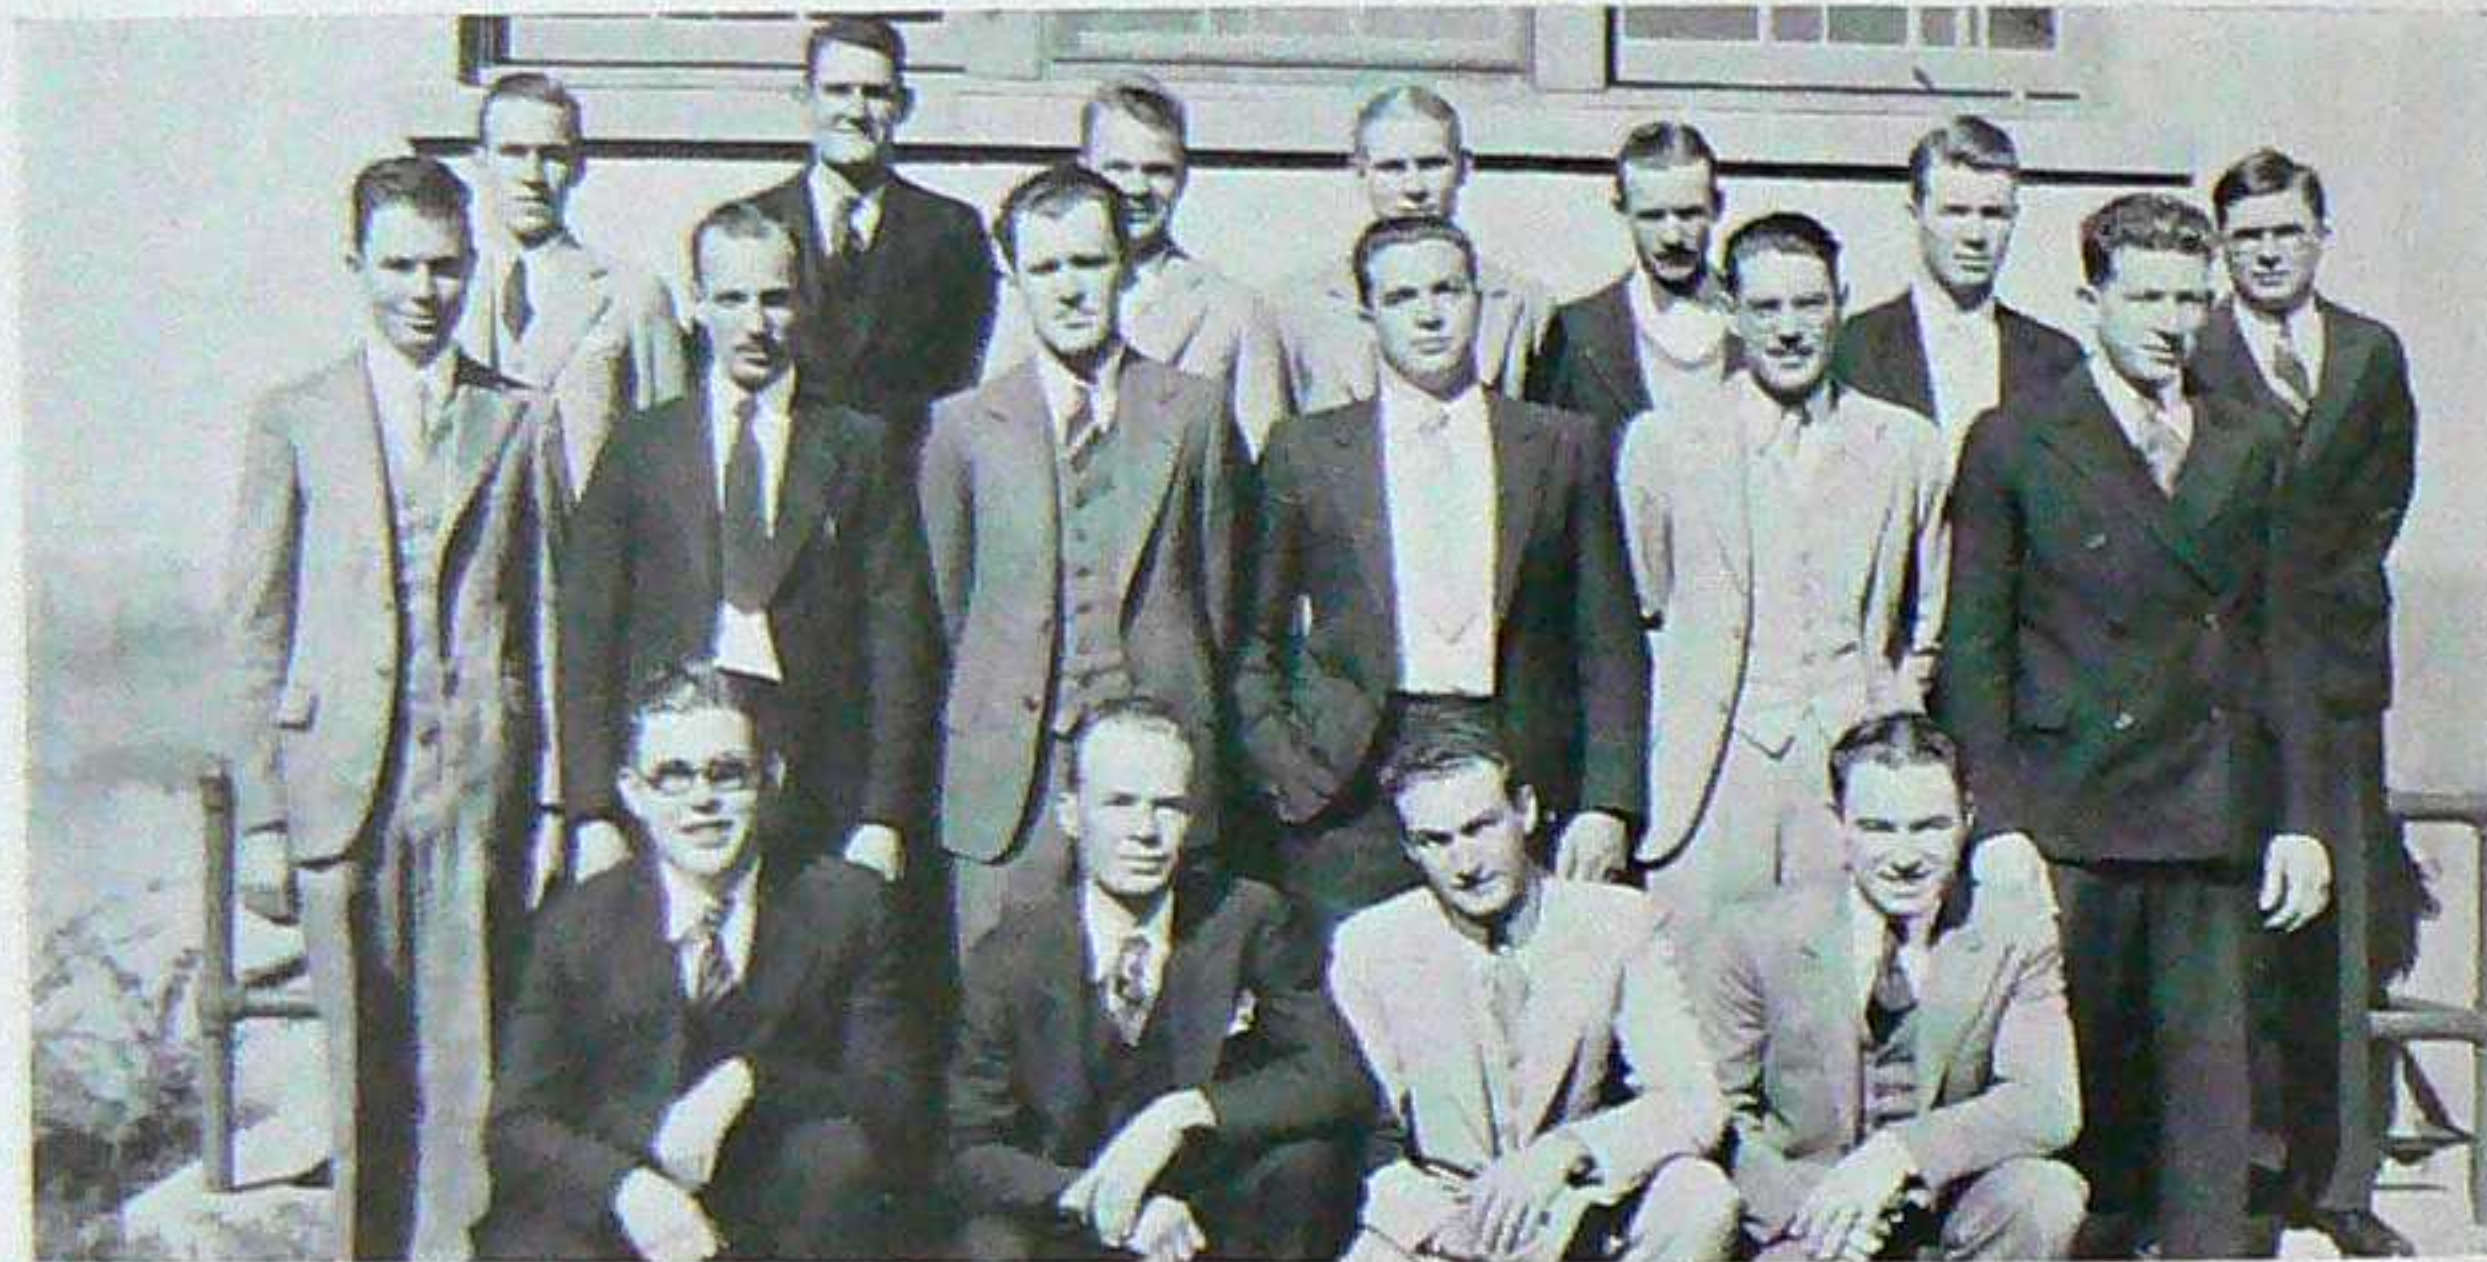

GEO. T. ANDERSON

"Our fate is in your hands," would be appropriate for this group of men. As the whole school organization is based upon the Athletic Association, it is evident that these men who are in the key position must be the best men in the school, and let it be said here that these men are not only the best in the school but we believe them to be the best in any school and we are for them body and soul.

The Athletic Association, which these men represent, is made up of all registered students in the New Mexico School of Mines. This organization consists of two major parts: the Student Council and the Athletic Committee. The Student Council is the Study Body government. The Athletic Committee has control of all funds received from athletic fees, appropriations, gate receipts, and functions given primarily for athletic benefit. The Athletic Committee makes all athletic awards and outlines the school's athletic policy.

This year has been one of the most enjoyable which our school has witnessed. The smoothness with which this year has passed is principally due to the officers of the Athletic Association, whose untiring efforts have done away with prejudices and other evils which might creep into an active school organization.

The Janitors Union

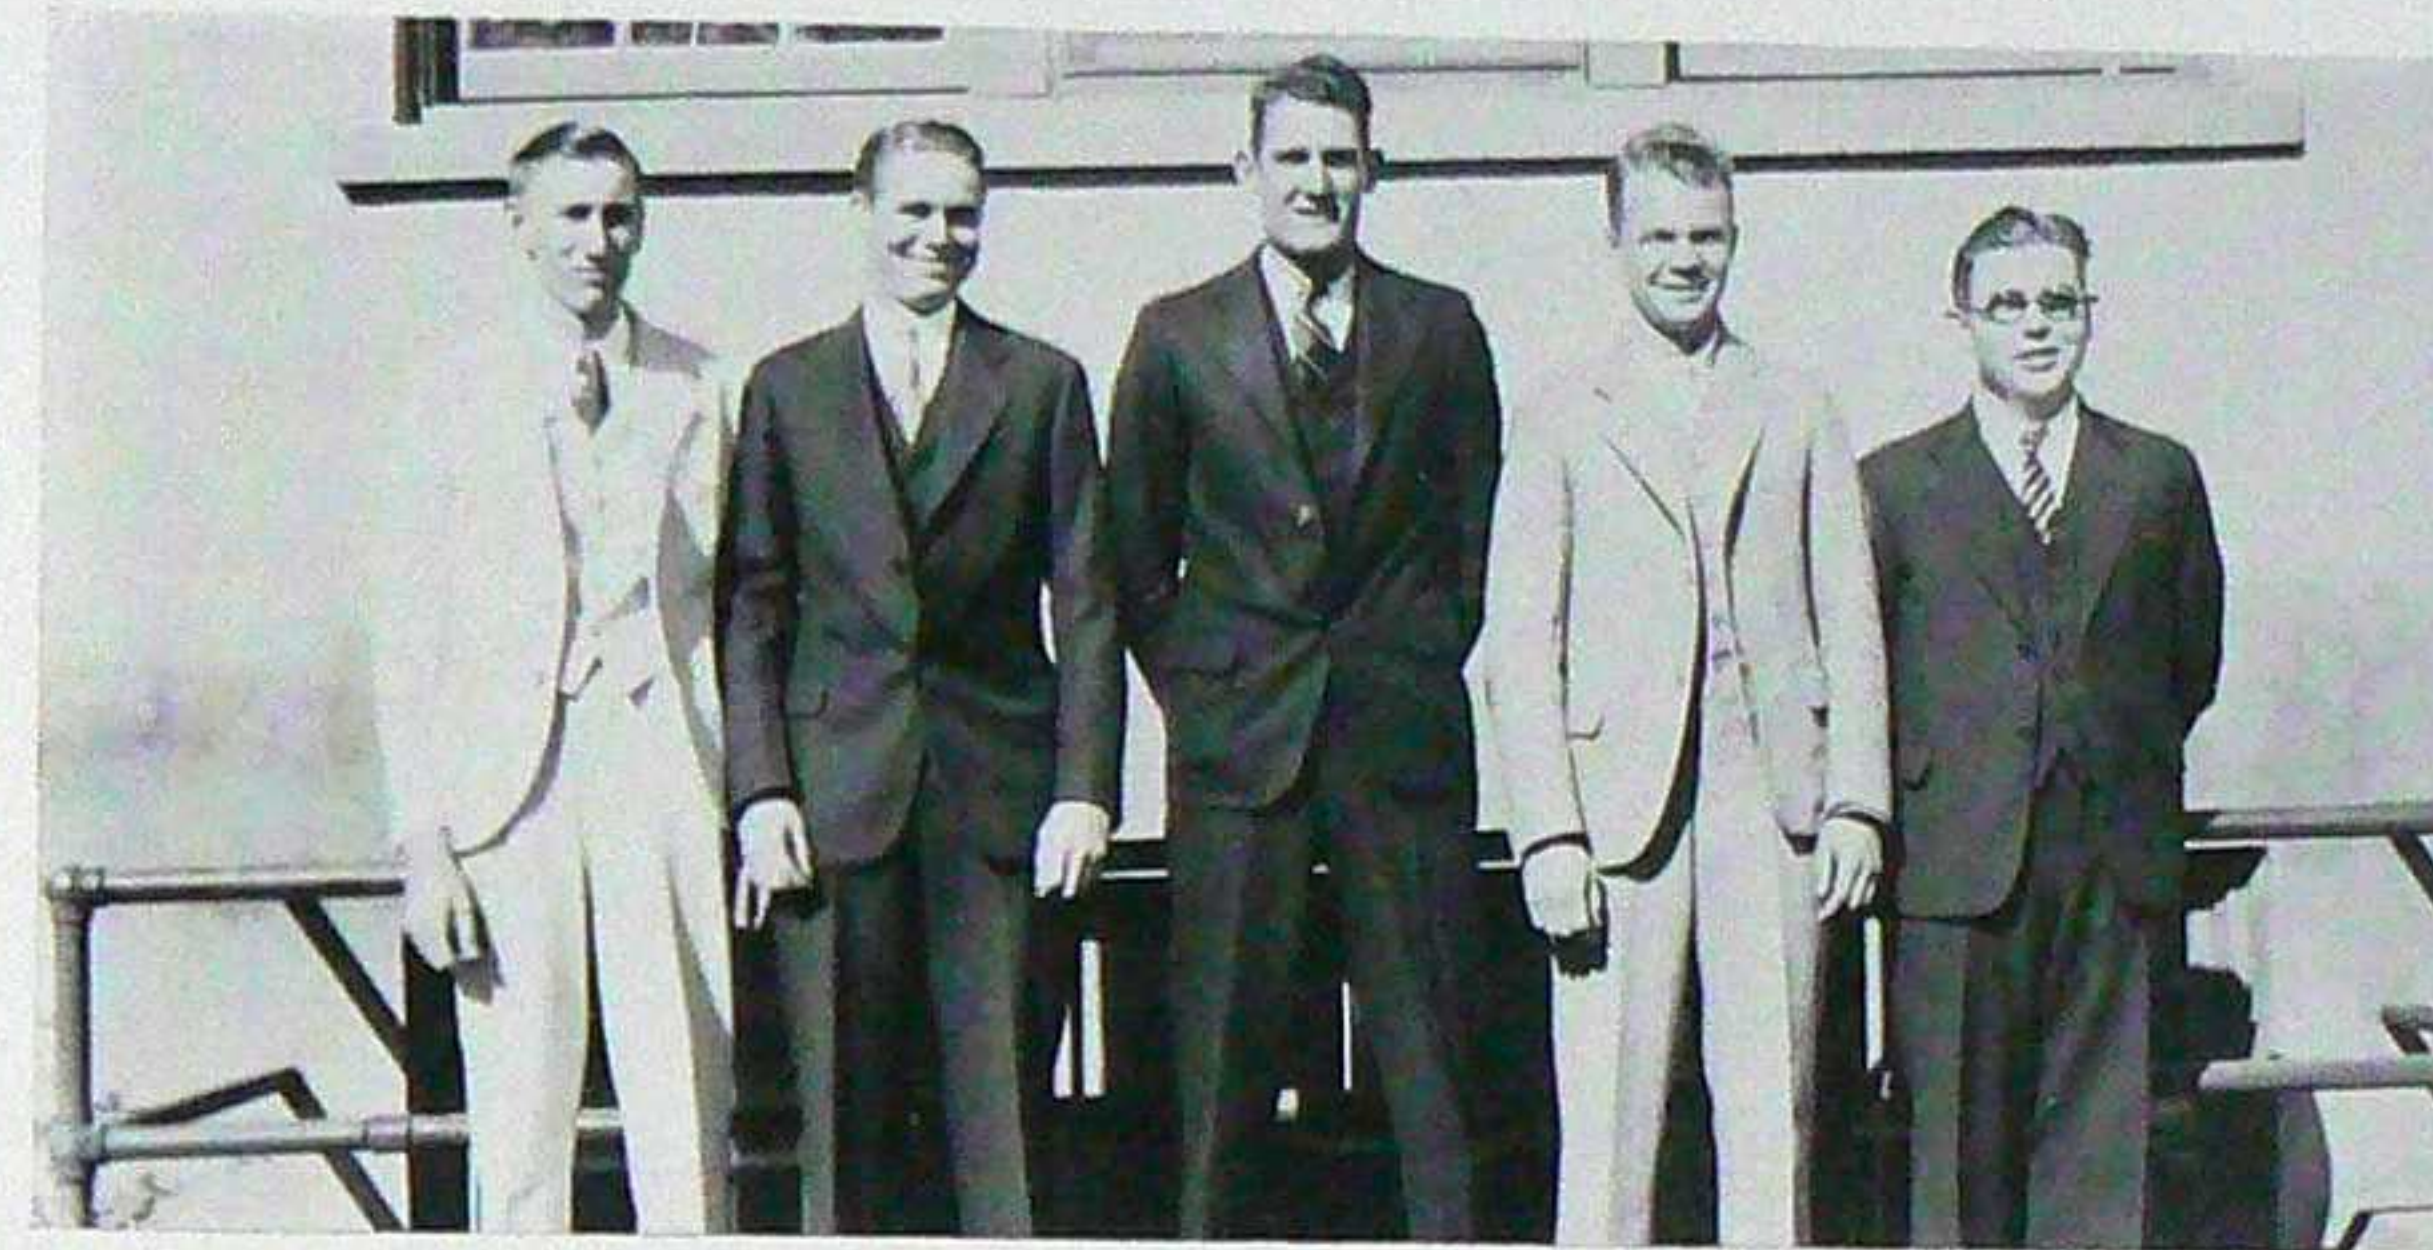

Top Row—Boyle, Bunch, Boding, Watson, Roberts, Wiegand, Thoresen.
Middle Row—Baltosser, Maier, Anderson, La Londe, Colliston, Holzworth.

The Janitors Union consists of the men who do the work at the School of Mines. The Union boasts the most versatile aggregation which can be assembled on the campus. Among those present are: Athletes, Scholars, Waiters, Laboratory Assistants, Student Instructors, Broom Pushers, Librarians, Firemen, and Bus Drivers.

The foundation of the Janitors Union is built upon knowledge and to be ever ready with replies to queries is the duty of every Union member. A casual observer would probably hear the following questions and statements shot at the poor unassuming members of the Janitors Union: Seniors—Has anybody written up the Sixth Ore Dressing Experiment? Juniors—Give me 7 crucibles and some litharge; Sophomores—Do you add or subtract this correction for a Solar? Freshmen—Have you got anything in the stockroom that looks like this? Everybody—Grab the desert! Waiter; Anybody—Why did you charge me for this book? it is only 6 weeks overdue; Athletes—“Barrel er Fagan”; The Faculty—When are you going to sweep out my office? Such questions are merely routine work for the Union men and we are thankful that these questions are always forthcoming because it means a job for the deserving.

The Vigilantes

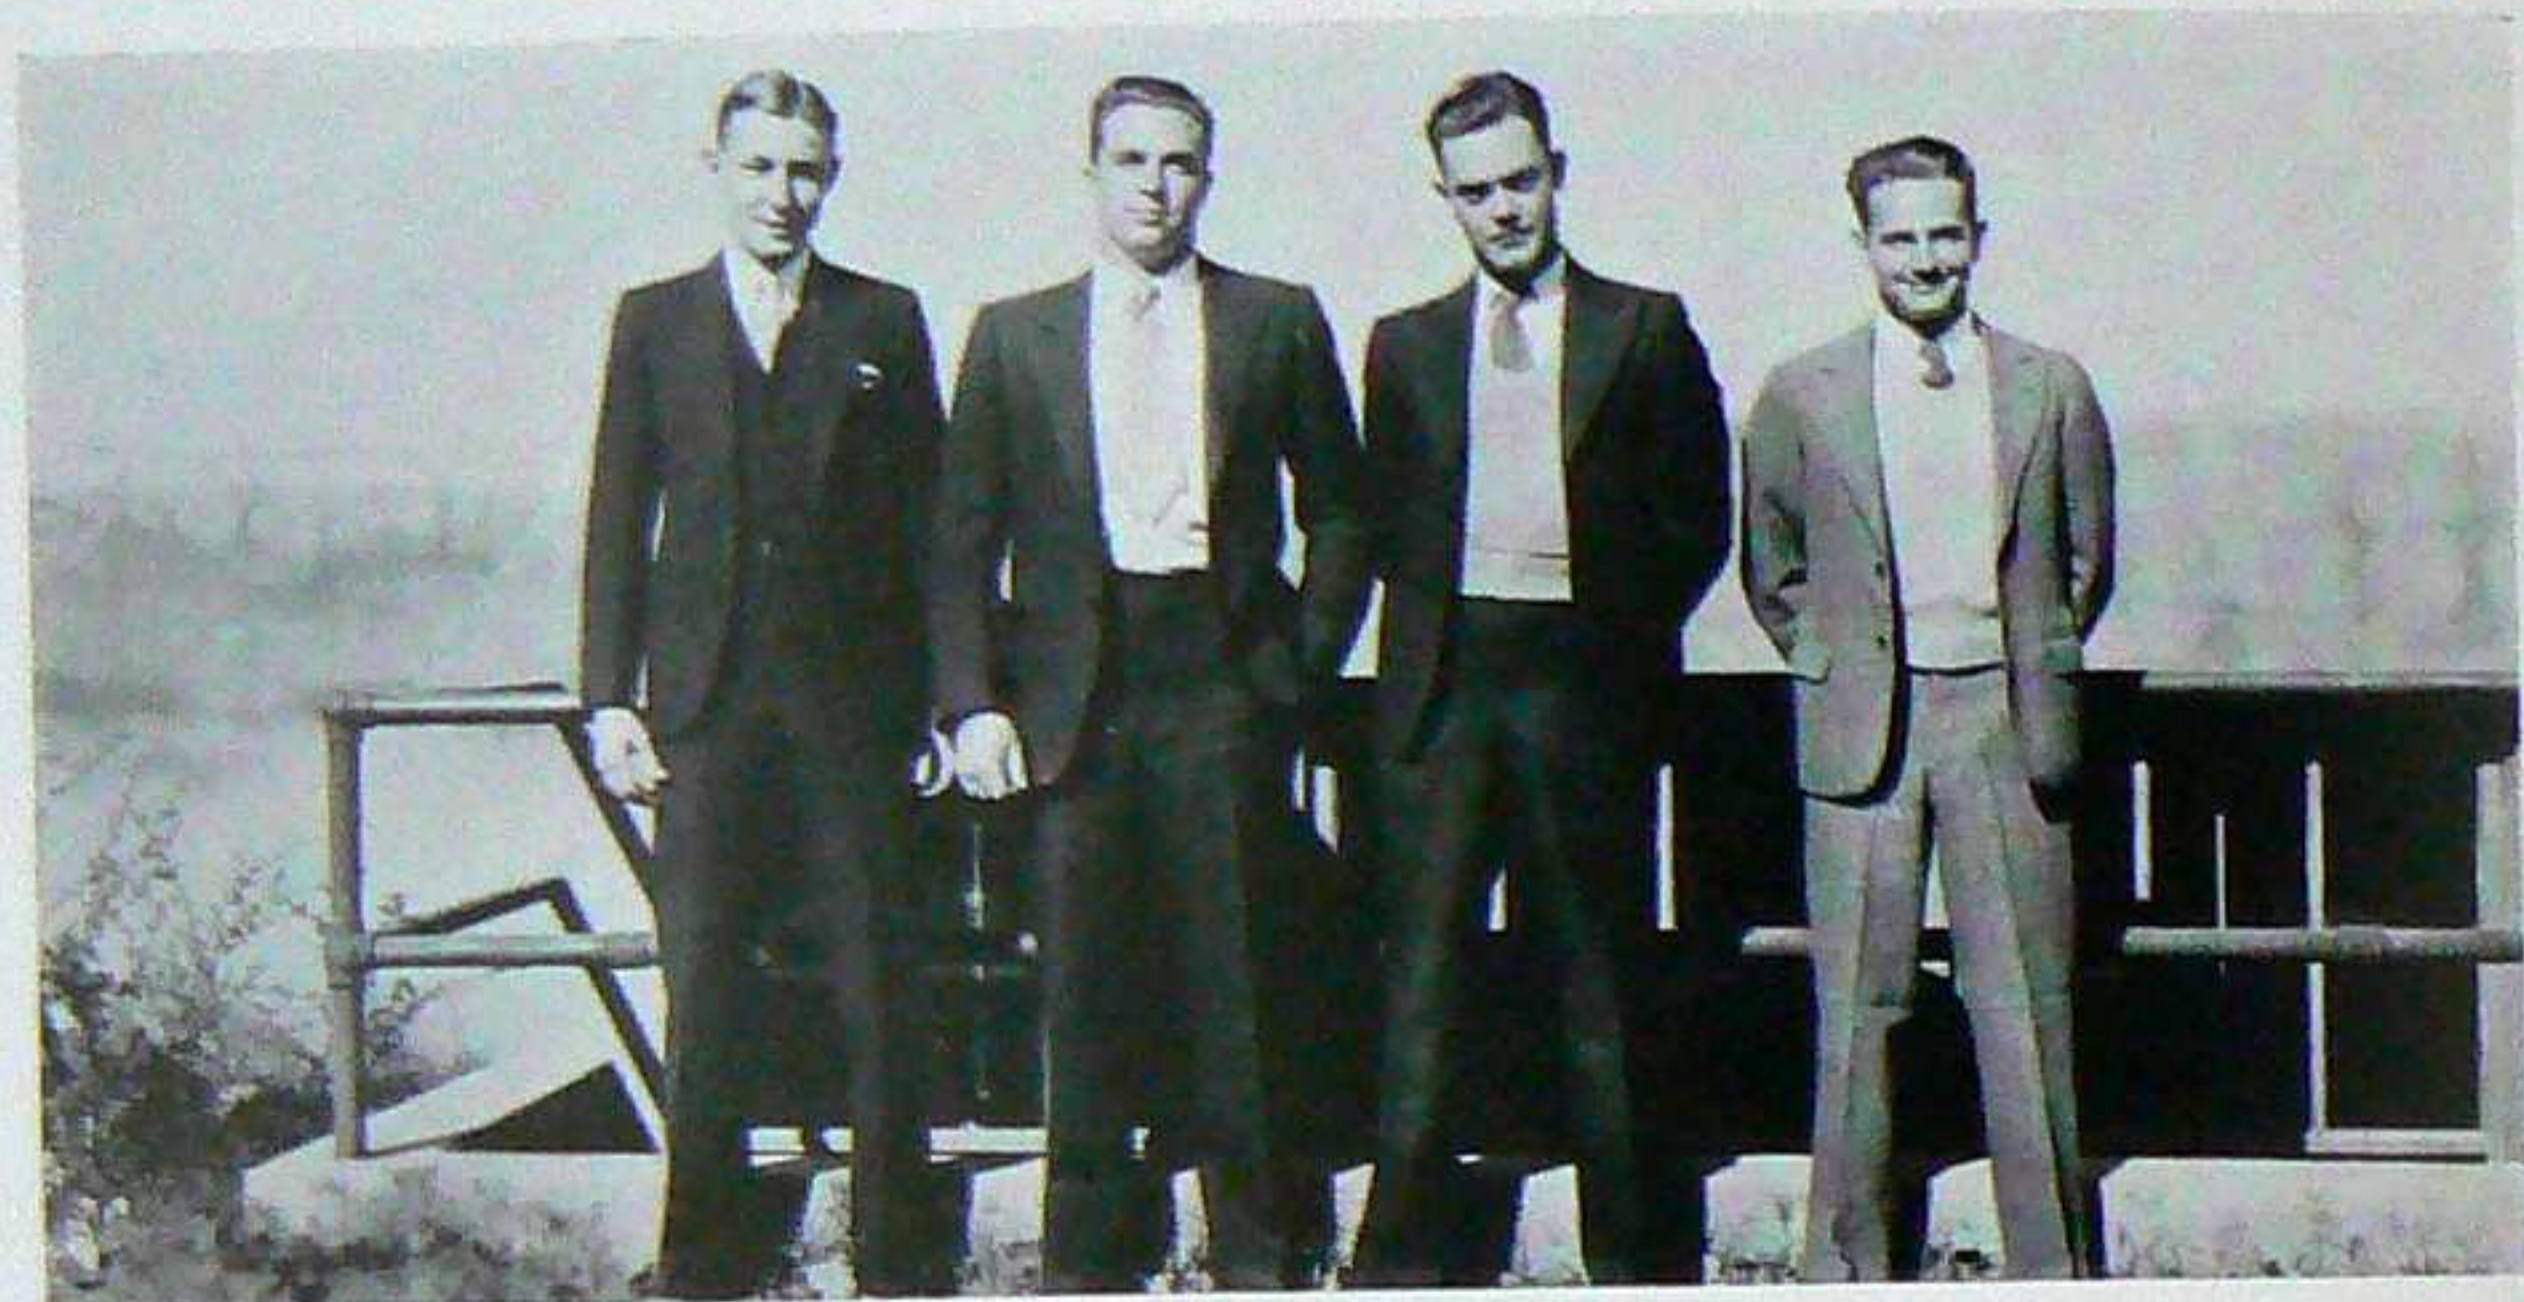

Callihani, Cavanaugh, Bunch, Boding, Fackler.

One of the most imposing of extra-curricula activities is that of the age old society of Vigilantes.

Freshmen, upon entering college, often have the tendency to carry with them their high school attitude. Away from parental guidance they fall easily into a mistaken smartness, and like children with an over fondness for jam, need some correcting. It is well that a man with an eye cocked for a position in the mining world learn at an early date how to STICK when the going is rough. There is not much room for a weakling and a milksop in an engineer's career, and none at all if that engineer be a Miner. From the class room comes the basis of our foundation but much of that which we build over it, must come from a strong heart and a stiff backbone.

Under the able tutelage of Top Sergeant Cyrus Boding, this lesson of discipline was well taught. At an early date last September the Freshmen were made to toe the line, and while the ensuing period up to the “piece de resistance” at the Kangaroo Court, was a bitter pill for some rebellious spirits, all the members of the Freshman class took their medicine in the spirit intended. At Kangaroo Court they earned their right to be called Miners.

The details of the ritual at this Sophomore sanctum sanctorum, are not for publication, but any Freshman will tell you it was a night not to be forgotten. He'll tell you it was one of the high lights of his Freshman year; that he is proud of the test he stood, but if you listen closely you'll hear him add, in a low voice, that he's dam glad it's over.

Salzman, La Londe, Riley, Van Sant.

JOEL N. VAN SANT

The Entertainment Committee

Chairman - - - - - Joel N. Van Sant

To the Entertainment Committee go our thanks for this year's fun.

An outsider's guess would be, that because of a small student body, the work of this committee would be less compared to that of such a committee in a larger school. However, the contrary is true. Our finances are limited, and it is impossible to provide a varied program in as small a city as Socorro. But as an example of what can be done with the means at hand, attention is called to the New Year's Eve party at the Val Verde. It was a gala affair and its success was assured from the very beginning. The New Year was ushered in with a fanfare of enthusiasm and good fellowship.

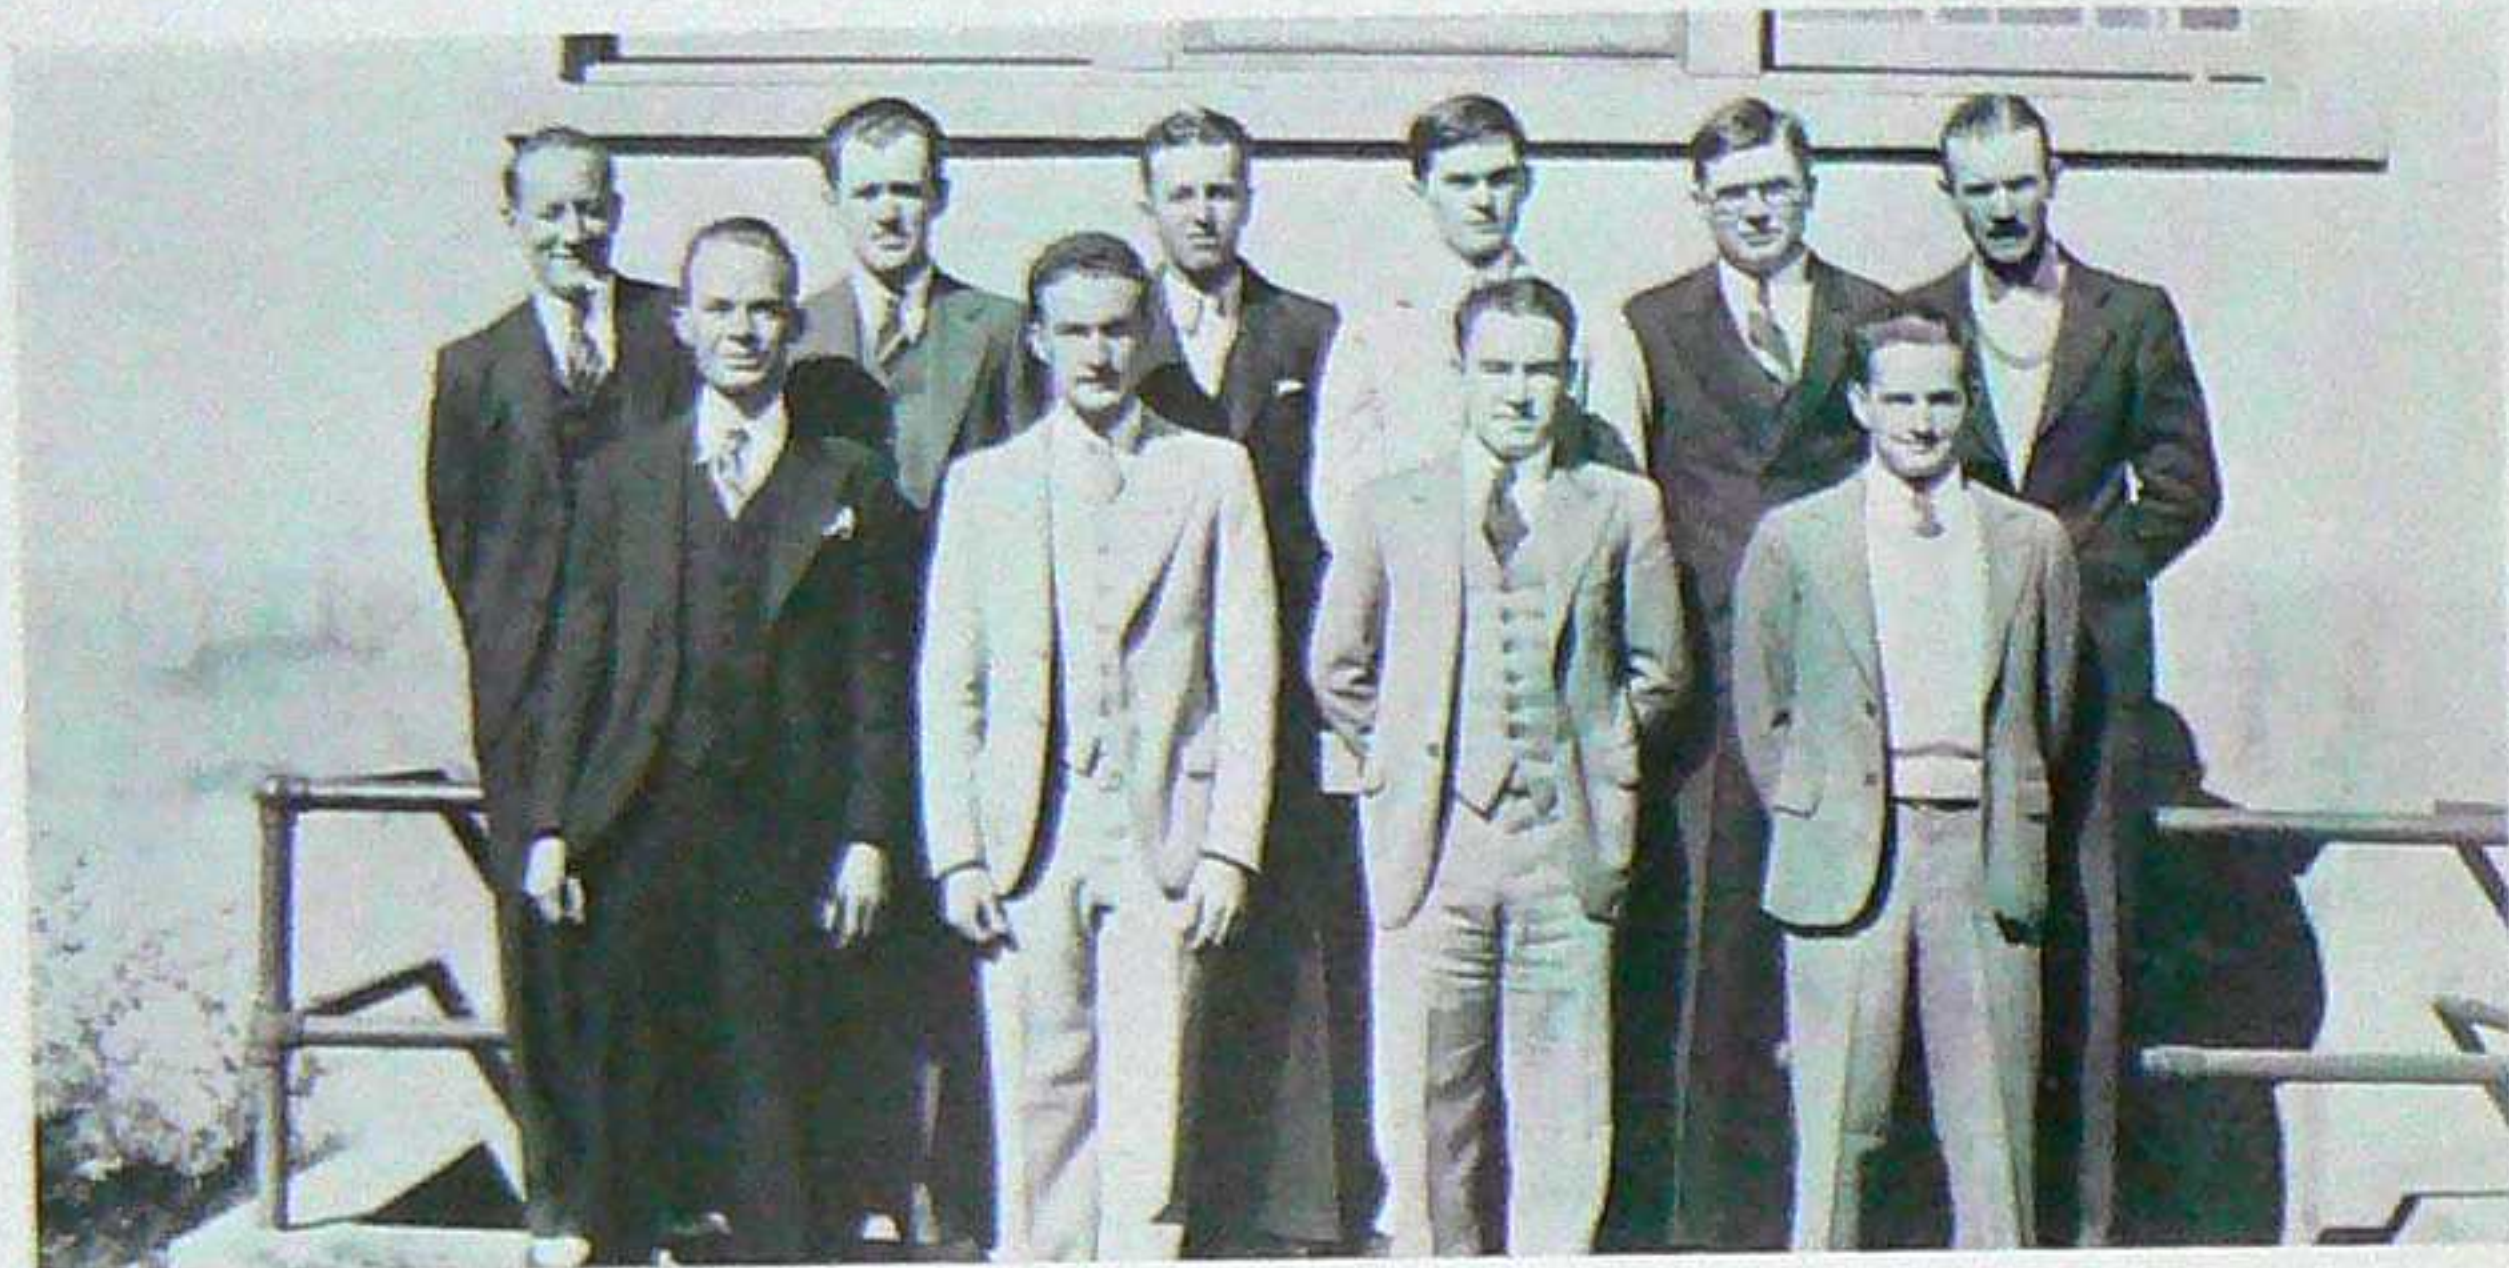

This faculty for "putting over" its programs has characterized all of the Committee's work. From the Freshman smoker to the last of the Club Room dances, all have been voted successes, and the Committee has justly earned our hearty thanks. Especially are they due to J. N. Van Sant, the chairman, because Van has proven on every occasion that his capacity for work is in inverse proportion to his stature.

The 1933 Porphyry

Editor - - - - Gilbert R. Griswold

This essay might well be titled, The Ramblings of Ye Simple Editor.

There are three types of people who come in contact with year books, namely: the type who never read the writing in the annual; the type who read parts of the book as soon as it comes out; and the type who will read this book sometime after the next ten years.

For the first type we have put the writings under the pictures so that the book will not look too bare. For the second type, who are usually in a hurry, we will try to keep up the precedent of our noble text books, for example: the small Descript book refers you to various pages, references, pictures, problems, and examples; we refer you, for the purpose of this book, to the Foreword on page 5. For the third type we have spent considerable time in the writing material which appears in this book and we believe that each writeup contains the actual facts which supply food for thought when one wishes to revive his memories of the happy days spent in the New Mexico School of Mines.

The Gold Pan

Editor - - - - William J. Patrigo
Business Manager - - - - C. J. Boding

The Gold Pan is the official organ of the School of Mines. Its intention is primarily to aid and foster the development of the school and the Mining Industry. The paper is representative of the entire student body rather than merely the medium of expression of the few who comprise the staff.

The Gold Pan is not just a common carrier of news but serves as a reminder of events and happenings of school days.

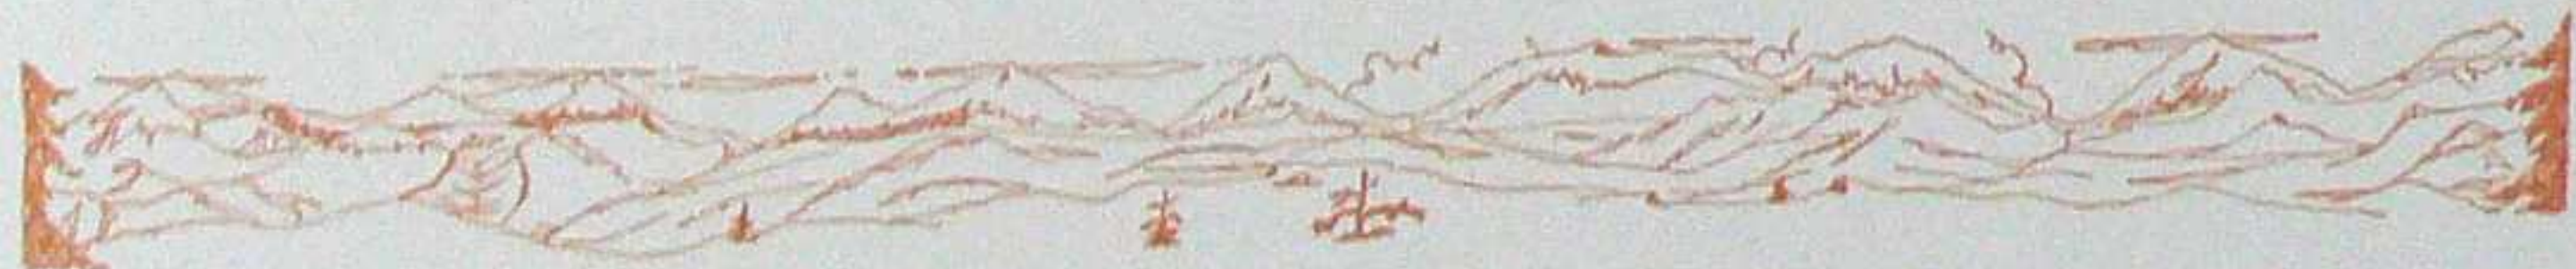

Radical changes in the general make-up with careful consideration of minor details were made by the staff. The efforts of the staff to provide the school with a better Gold Pan were well demonstrated in the issues published.

The staff of the 1932-1933 Gold Pan was composed of the following: W. J. Patrigo, editor; J. N. Van Sant, humor editor; C. J. Boding, business manager; J. A. Salzman, assistant business manager; A. L. Wiegand, advertising manager; W. C. Hagie, circulation manager; C. M. La Londe, assistant circulation manager.

Opening Dance

The 1932-33 Social Season! Yes, believe it or not, the Miners do go social at times and when they do the Ritz-Carlton would blush with envy.

Under the able management of the Entertainment Committee, the past season may be considered the ultimate in entertainment—club-room dances, bridge parties, formal gym dances, smokers, and last but not least, the complimentary picture shows.

On with the dance, Miss New Mexico!

Under the rhythmic melodies of the Arizona Night Hawks the formal social season of the School of Mines began on September 26. This dance was given for the purpose of introducing the frosh and transfers to the townspeople and fair damsels of our city.

As a means of entertainment the meek and lowly Freshmen were led onto the dance floor under the guiding hand of the Sophomores. They did nobly with their skits regardless of the fact that the Bronx cheer drowned the applause.

Forty Niners Dance

No one spoke. The air in the hall hung dead and still. Suddenly this was lost in the churning of the concussion tortured atmosphere. "Dead Eye Dick" had arrived with six guns leveled and spouting lead, ushering in the Forty Niners dance with all its blazoned glory. Horse wranglers, cow-punchers, gamblers, miners, and beautiful senioritas swaggered about the room truly endowed with the spirit of the early west. Roulette, dice, chuck-a-luck, faro-bank and poker were there for those with the gambling fever and the much advertised "Longest Bar in the State" did the most flourishing business in history. Milling couples crowded the dance floor endeavoring to keep in syncopation with the "Californians." Dances of this type make us all wish that those old days were here again.

Smoker

The smoker held at the School of Mines early in December proved to be the type of entertainment that is looked forward to by students, faculty, and business men. The spirit of good fellowship was the essence of the evening. The smoker was given by the "M" Club with the cooperation of the Entertainment Committee, primarily for the presentation of "M" sweaters to the football men. As an innovation, boxing and wrestling bouts were provided for the amusement of those present. Refreshments were served, accompanied by the usual after dinner speeches.

New Year's Dance

The New Year's dance held at the Val Verde Hotel was unquestionably the final word in social gatherings. Several weeks of much effort on the part of the Entertainment Committee resulted in the successful realization of the affair. The hotel was decorated in its best holiday attire,—red and green streamers, evergreens and mistletoe, all enhanced by an artistically arranged low ceiling of balloons. The old year was ushered out and the new one in with the entrancing music furnished by "Red Brake and his Hotel El Fidel orchestra." The students, faculty and townspeople rejoiced in a true holiday manner. The usual amount of New Year's imbibing kept them vibrating with the spirit of the evening. At midnight, balloons and streamers were released with the accompaniment of much noise. This was a dance that will be long remembered by many of us.

St. Pat's Dance

March 17, 1933, dawned clear and cool. About 10:30 A. M. it became clear and warm, and by 3:30 P. M., it was not so clear and a whole lot warmer—especially for eighteen Freshmen and a select few of upper classmen. A streaming good time was had by all, including the pup who played the part in the suitcase scene. Speeches, spring dances, and renditions from light opera seemed to be the high points of the afternoon. After all was said and swung (on) the Freshmen filed out better men and with a firm prayer that kissing the Blarney Stone might impart some of its mystic powers to their tongues and pens.

The Dance? Ah! The Freshmen didn't have to kiss the Blarney Stone to brag that up. It spoke for itself. The main object was to furnish a suitable setting for the first act of the grand finale which brought to a close the college career of the class of '33. The diplomas were given and accepted with all due seriousness and dignity which the appearance of St. Patrick amongst mere mortals would entail. After these ceremonies the orchestra began and everyone proceeded to do his best to make the evening a merry one. When the "Hottentots" did finally break into the old familiar strain of "Home Sweet Home" it was with a feeling of real regret that the couples left.

And thus passed another St. Pat's into the shades of history.

Commencement Dance

Commencement and the final ball bring to our minds many things. To the three under classes it may not mean more than certain formalities that mark the passing of another class, but to the graduates it has an altogether different meaning. The hours of study, the moments of discouragement and failure when we had wondered if a degree was worth the cost, were all forgotten when we realized we had reached the end.

The most impressive dance of the year and when the orchestra played its final note, a taps for the school career, it left one with fond dear memories of his student days.
