INSTRUCTIONAL DESIGNER

The Department of Psychology and Education at New Mexico Tech (NMT) seeks a candidate for the position of Instructional Designer on our 5 year Title V grant from the Department of Education, Advancing Teaching and Training of Hispanic Educators in STEM in New Mexico (AT-THE-STEM-NM). The grant aims to increase the number of STEM teachers in our teacher training (ALP) and Master of Science for Teachers (MST) programs. The grant specifically seeks to increase the number of Hispanic students choosing to go into teaching.

Job Responsibilities:

- To be responsible for course design and support implementation of courses for our Education programs.
- To work directly with STEM faculty in the development and creation of new courses for our Education programs.
- To be involved in all aspects of course development, including Learning Management Systems and the filming of courses.
- To work with the MST Coordinator and the Title V Project Directors to help redesign MST distance courses.
- To be able to work with professors to present courses using a wide range of innovative teaching methods.

Qualifications Needed:

- The successful candidate must have at least a Master's degree in Instructional Design, Educational Technology or a related field.
- This person should have experience working in higher education and academic learning environments
- Experience with learning management systems.
- Experience developing distance learning courses.
- Having experience providing pedagogical and instructional design support to teachers is highly desired.
- Understanding Spanish is desired.

The position is open immediately and will last for the period of this grant. Applicants should submit a letter of interest, resume and the names and contact information of three references to Rosa Jaramillo at nmtjobapps@npe.nmt.edu and Mark.Samuels@nmt.edu. Questions can be directed to the Project Director of the grant Dr. Mark Samuels. College transcripts will be required if selected to interview. The selection process will begin immediately and continue until the position is filled.

NMT is an Equal Opportunity Employer. Benefits include a health plan (health, vision, dental) and a retirement plan. New Mexico Tech is located in Socorro, in the scenic Rio Grande River Valley of central New Mexico, 75 miles south of Albuquerque and 139 miles south of Santa Fe.
